TAFT HONORS EMANCIPATOR

At Dedication of Lincoln Farm Memorial.

A TEAR DIMS TAFT'S EYE AT OLD CABIN

As He Gazes on Spot Where Lincoln Studies.

I Believe This Old Log Cabin Will Live in Memory of America for All Eternity, Says the President, as He Speaks of the Early Life and Struggles of Great Emancipator at Hodgenville, Kentucky.

Hodgenville, Ky., Nov. 9.—Seemingly drawing a parallel between the abuse heaped upon Abraham Lincoln and his own experience, President Taft today assisted at the dedication of the Lincoln farm memorial here.

The difficulties encountered by Lincoln from "moral reformers" and members of his own party" characterized the president as "the lot of any responsible head of a government,' were applied by many to the Taft experiences with the Republican insurgency

The president said in part:

At the outset Mr. Lincoln encountered the difficulties that fall to the lot of any responsible head of a government—difficulties which are intensified by the greatness of the issues at hand, but which all have the same characteristics when they arise from the over-zeal of moral reformers Those who wished slavery abolished felt toward Mr. Lincoln a greater degree of hatred and contempt during the two years of his administration than even the rebels themselves. He bared his brest to the shafts of critics from this most important element of the Republican party and waited No man in public life was so much abused by his friends as Lincoln

A Man of Soil.

"It is eminently appropriate that the farm where Lincoln was born should come into public posession and should have erected on it a suitable memorial in which to preserve mementos of his personality and biographies of his life

"Few men have come into public prominence who came absolutely from the soil as did Abraham Lincoln It is difficult to imagine the lack of comfort, accommodation and the necessities of life that there were in the cabin in which he was born With an illiterate and shiftless father, and a mother, though of education and force, dead before he reached youth, his future was dark, indeed In the stepmother that his father found for him, however, he had a woman of strength of character and of education enough to assist him He says he never received any education except reading and writing and arithmetic, to the rule of three; but he had access to books and whether he kept a store or acted as a flatboat man on the Mississippi or finally came to study law he read the books he had thoroughly and they included the Bible and Shakespeare.

His evident sympathy for the colored race, his roused sense of justice in their behalf, his earnest passions to secure them freedom and equality of opportunity, had their inspirations in the sufferings and limitations of his own early life"

At Lincoln's Home.

Hodgenville Ky. 9—At the spot where Abraham Lincoln spent his days of training for the presidency, President Taft today did honor to the "great emancipator."

A gathering of distinguished Americans of today was on hand to celebrate the dedication of the great Lincoln memorial, the Lincoln farm and homestead.

In addition to the president, Cardinal Gibbons, Governor Folk, of Missouri, Clarence H. Mackey; Oscar S Straus, Governor Willson, of Kentucky Colonel Marse Watterson, Samuel Gompers and Norman Hapgood are trustees of the Lincoln memorial

A lone log cabin built on a sloping hillside, enshrined in a big granite building was the Lincoln memorial that the president found here today A great old-fashioned fireplace in the single room of the home of Nancy Hanks and Thomas Lincoln lent the sole air of cheerfulness to the dark damp interior that the president saw. But the dim room where Lincoln pored over his Blackstone and his Shakespeare, was the same 99 mud-chinked, draughted-swept room, that it was fifty-five years ago.

"This is a great memorial," said the president, with just suspicion of a sigh, as he gazed on the spot where Lincoln had lain late at night over his books. "I believe this log cabin will live in the memory of America for all eternity."

The president left Louisville early this morning, and after a brief stop at Elizabethtown, hurried on to Hodgenville.

TWO SUSPECTED OF BEING SPIES

Pandora, Ohio, Men Tell of Experiences in Italy.

Pandora, O., Nov. 9.—Suspected by officers of the Italian army of being German spies, arrested and held in a filthy prison for nine days without being permitted to appeal to American consuls, was the experience of Rev. Albert Schumacher and his brother, a merchant, of Pandora.

The two brothers have just reported their case to Secretary Knox. According to Rev. Mr Schumacher today, he and his brother started to walk across the mountains from Feltre. Each carried a knapsack and a camera. After passing through the village of Fonzasso they were stopped by soldiers and thrown into prison, murderers being their cell mates Nothing but soup served in filthy bowls was given them to eat. Rev. Mr. Schumacher asserted, and they were not permitted to explain that they were Americans

Both Schumachers were physical wrecks when finally released.

STOCKMEN AND PACKERS FIGHT

War Comes as Result of Alleged Preferential Rates.

Washington, Nov 9.—The war between the livestock and packing house interests in Kansas City, Omaha, St Louis, Chicago, Ft. Worth, Oklahoma City and numerous railroads over certain alleged preferential rates assumed national proportions before the Interstate Commerce commission today where the fight has been brought for final adjustment.

Several packing houses started business in Oklahoma City recently. Soon after, they allege, the railroads raised their rates to the material advantage of companies at Ft. Worth and Wichita. The Oklahoma City concerns complained and a long list of interests have become involved

Corporation Commissioner George H Henshaw, of Oklahoma, discussing the case, today said the same questions were involved as in the Judge Sanborn decision in the Minnesota rate case.

QUITS CHURCH FOR POLITICS

Schnectady Divine Is Made Mayor of City.

NO ROSE WATER REVOLUTIONIST

Is Not Dilettante Milk-and-Water Socialist.

But Say I'm a Socialist of Revolutionary Order, Opposed to Existing Industrial Conditions, Says Preacher Who Resigns from Aristocratic Charge To Fight Gratters of His Home City.

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 9.—"Tell the people that a Socialist minister, elected mayor of Schenectady, a city of 80,000 inhabitants, is no dilettante, milk-and-water parlor Socialist. He is not a rosewater revolutionist. Say that I am a Socialist of the revolutionary order. I am just as radical as Eugene V. Debs, just as much opposed to the existing industrial order. Moreover, I consider Debs a great preacher, poet and orator, worthy to be classed with Lincoln himself.'

The Rev. George R. Lunn, until a little more than a year ago pastor of Schenectady's most aristocratic church, the First Reformed, elected mayor Tuesday, gave this as his political creed today In addition, the Socialists have a majority in council.

Dr. Lunn startled his church eighteen months ago by resigning. Eighty per cent of his congregation called upon him to remain, but he refused.

"I never mixed politics and religion," Dr. Lunn said. I never preached Socialism from my pulpit, but for years I have never ceased to advocate it when I was out of the pulpit

Quits His Charge.

"Naturally, I was opposed to the rich and powerful men who could not realize what a message I had to deliver. So I just resigned and for several months conducted a 'people's church.'

"Do not think that our victory came without work We have been organizing for years for this fight. It took a tremendous amount of educational work. The local conditions were so rotten we went after them We fought grafters and convicted them. We had paving scandals and terribly unfair tax assessments All these things have contributed to the result, but Socialism predominated always.

"Our next step will be to send a Schenectady Socialist to congress Our program is to go on, step by step, capture city after city, and demonstrate that we are fit to rule."

RIVAL LEADERS SLAUGHTERED

Generals Chia and Tseng Are Killed by Own Men.

VICTIMS ARE SHOT AND THEN BEHEADED

Each Is Slain in Respective Quarters.

Rebel Seizure of Tien Tsin, the Port of Peking, Is Expected Soon. Fighting Reported To Be Still in Progress in Nankin—Revolutionists in Canton Issue Proclamation. Manchus Flee.

Shanghai, Nov. 9.—Because their jealousy of one another was threatening disaster to the revolutionary cause, Generals Chia and Tseng, of the rebel forces at Chang Sha, were killed by their own men today. The two rivals had been quarreling for some time. Finally a committee of influential revolutionists serving under them held a secret session to consider the situation. As a result of this conference, details of men were tolled off to put both disputants to death. Rushing directly to the doomed generals' respective quarters, the executioners burst in upon their victims and shot and then beheaded them.

A rebel seizure of Tin Tsin, the port of Pekin, is expected today. Members of the large foreign colony there have been notified that they have nothing to fear. Trouble is likely, however, inasmuch as the city is swarming with the hated Manchus, who, many of them with treasure in their possession, have arrived at the port from Peking in readiness to leave the country upon the monarchy's overthrow. A rebel proclamation issued at Canton last night says the revolutionists are considering a date for hoisting their banner there.

News by Steamship.

Telegraphic communication with Nankin, which was seized by the rebels yesterday, is broken and news is only received by steamship, which makes it twenty-four hours late in reaching here. At last acounts fighting was still in progress between the revolutionists and the Manchu force entrenched on Purple hill, overlooking the city. Several hundred are reported killed.

It is estimated that $50,000,000 worth of property was destroyed through the burning of Hankow and that 500,000 of the city's inhabitants are shelterless and starving. The corpses of thousands of others are decaying in the streets. Just what happened to the Wesleyan mission, which it was feared could not escape the flames, is uncertain, all Hankow news being fours days late. It is certain however that the David Hill memorial school for the blind, connected with the mission, was looted and the gravest fears are felt for the rest of the establishment.

Tien Tsin Won Over.

London, Nov.. 9—Tien Tsin, China, went over to the rebels last night, according to a message today from the Times' Peking correspondent. Other cables merely say that today the rebels posted notices announcing their intention of taking possession of the city by nightfall.

Emperror Flees.

Peking, Nov 9 —That the emperor of China has fled Peking is stated today on the authority of a palace eunuch whose information has hitherto proved reliable. His story is that the dowager empress accompanied the child ruler and that they were smuggled away in a peasant's cart.

Marching on Peking.

Shanghai, Nov. 9.—Having broken off negotiations with Yuan Shi Kai, General Yuan Li Hung, the Chinese rebel commander, is reported marching on Peking today at the head of his forces.

HOUSE OF DEATH CLEWS SECURED

Mrs. Vermilya's Calm Now Deserts Her.

WOMAN SPENDS A SLEEPLESS NIGHT

And Pleads with the Matron To Remain.

Three New Developments Come Today in Investigation of Wholesale Deaths of Those Who Accept Hospitality of Mrs. Vermilya—Sleuths Get New Clews as They Follow Trend of Events.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Three new developments today, in the investigation of the wholesale deaths of those who accepted hospitality of Mrs. Louise Vermilya at her "House of Death" today led the police to believe that they would be able to add to the warrant charging her with the poisoning of Policeman Arthur Bissonette, the names of several other relatives and friends

Friends of Jayson Ruppert, a Soo fireman, told the detectives that he died in exactly the same way as Bisonette did, and, they think, after he had partaken of a meal at the Vermilya home.

Despite denials by the accused woman and Charles C. Boysen, an undertaker, who buried several of those whose deaths are under investigation, that their friendship was anything but platonic, the police learned from the secretary of the Home Guards of America, a benefit insurance organization, that Mrs. Vermilya was insured for $1,250, and that the beneficiary was named as Charles C. Boysen, affianced husband."

Mrs. Elizabeth Laroque, aunt of Bisonette, declared that she became violently ill after eating one meal at the Vermilya home. She said that Mrs. Vermilya cooked the meal, but did not eat with her guests.

Running Down Clews.

Detectives are at work running down all clews connected with these three bits of information. They want to learn whether the deadly arsenic-filled pepper box was in use at the meals eaten by Ruppert and Mrs. Larouque, and they are anxious to find out something more about Boysen.

Professor Walter Haine said today that he expected by tomorrow to submit a report on his analysis of the viscera of Richard T. Smith, the Illinois Central railroad conductor, friend of Mrs. Vermilya, and victim of a sudden death.

If arsenic is found in Smith's organs, Coroner Hoffman will immediately exhume the body of Charles Vermilya, second husband of the woman, who died in almost the same way that Smith and Bisonette did. It is known Bisonette died from arsenical poisoning.

In the meanwhile Mrs. Vermilya's calm has deserted her. She was near a breakdown today, following a sleepless night, crying spells and nervous exhaustion. She pleaded that Matron Mary Small, of the county jail, stay with her in the cell and talked hysterically of her troubles through most of the night.

COURT DOESN'T ACT ON DIEGLE MOTION

Matter May Not Be Decided Before Next Tuesday.

Columbus, O., Nov. 9.—The supreme court met today, but failed to hand down a decision on the motion of Rodney J. Diegle, senate sergeant-at-arms convicted of bribery and under three-year sentence to the penitentiary. Diegle asked leave to appeal from the decision of the circuit court, which sustained the common pleas court.

It is not now likely that the motion will be decided before next Tuesday.

BANKER WALSH'S ESTATE SMALL

It Will Not Amount to More Than $125,000.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—According to the statements of one close to the family of the late John R. Walsh, the estate of the former bank president, railroad magnate, financier and manipulator, whose options once moved the market, will amount to but little more than $125,000. At the height of his power, and just before the government successfully prosecuted him for bank wrecking, the former newsboy was worth $15,000,000.

Practically all of this enormous sum was lost in the wreckage of the Walsh bank failure, being forfeited as security on two notes of $7,000,000 and $3,000,000 given by him to the Chicago clearing house in settlement of claims against the three Walsh banks.

Walsh's will, it was said, was dated October 23, a few days after his release from Leavenworth penitentiary and shortly before his death here

FRAUD CHARGED TO PUBLISHERS

Columbian-Sterling Men Are Placed Under Arrest.

SENT TO TOMBS IN DEFAULT OF BAIL

Fraud Is Alleged in Stock-Selling Campaign.

Postal Authorities Declare Company Organized To Take Over Hampton's Magazine and the Columbian Use Mails To Induce People To Buy Stock Which Was Assured To Pay Quarterly Dividends.

New York, Nov 9.—Lee Sidwell, secretary-treasurer of the Columbian-Sterling Magazine company, and E. Bryan Yates, a director in the same concern, arrested last night on charges of using the mails to defraud, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields today and remanded to the Tombs in default of $10,000 bail each, to await examination next Tuesday.

Frank Orff, president of the company, and John F. Atkin, of Philadelphia, counsel for the company, arraigned yesterday and held in $15,000 bail each on the same charge, still are in the Tombs, having failed to secure bondsmen All will be arraigned Tuesday

The arrest of the president, attorney and directors of the Columbian-Sterling company, though expected for some time, created a sensation in the publishing world, especially in view of the fact that a representative of the United States district attorney's office stated to Commissioner Shields tha, the alleged frauds will total more than $2,000,000

Other Arrests Likely.

The specific charge against the prisoners is that September 1, last, they announced through the mails, for the purpose of inducing persons to buy stock, that the company was able to pay quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent. out of its surplus The postal authorities declare that this was absolutely untrue, because the company at that time was losing money and that in place of a surplus it owed $210,000 Its receiver recently reported that the total liabilities of the Columbian-Sterling company were $640,000 and its assets nill.

The company recently was organized to take over Hampton's magazine and the Orff publications

LIQUOR ISSUE IN CONVENTION

Wets and Drys Figure on the Delegates.

SEVENTY-SEVEN ARE CLAIMED BY WETS

While Dry Forces Say There Are Forty-Eight.

Anti-Saloon League People Declare That a Majority Will Oppose Any Proposition That Will Take Away from Legislature the Right To Regulate and Control the Liquor Traffic—View of Brewers.

Columbus, O., Nov. 9.—Revised figures on the election of constitutional convention delegates show that ninety-seven of them are openly progressive and were elected as such and the remaining twenty-two were elected as conservatives.

Of the ninety-seven progressives elected, sixty-one of them pledged themselves in writing before their election to work and vote for the initiative and referendum, with petition percentages which were agreed upon by the Ohio Progressive league, the Ohio Federation of Labor and the Ohio State grange. These percentages are twelve per cent. petitions for constitutional amendments; ten per cent. for needed laws and eight per cent. for referendum on laws passed by the legislature

Delegates who have pledged themselves in writing to these percentages will constitute a majority of the entire convention.

On the liquor issue, the Anti-Saloon league classed fifty-seven as known drys and only forty-eight as known wets This leaves fourteen who are yet to go on record.

Claims of Brewers.

Percy Andreae, of the Ohio Brewers' association, claims seventy-seven of the 119 delegates are in favor of the separate submission of the license proposition. On the other hand, Wayne B. Wheeler, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, claims that a majority will be opposed to any proposition that will take away from the legislature the right to regulate and control the liquor tariffic. As an alternative to license, the Wheeler forces will demand the submission of a statewide prohibition proposition.

Between the Anti-Saloon league and the Ohio brewers' claims, it is believed to be the correct guess that it will require a test of strength in the convention to determine which side has the upper hand

There is much talk of a short convention because of the fact that a majority of the delegates are pledged in writing to specific details on the initiative and referendum, which was expected to be the big question before the convention.

GILA BEND WATER SUPPLY CUT OFF

Railroad Man Explains Why Action Is Taken.

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 9.—That the Southern Pacific railroad is cutting off the water supply formerly furnished free to families at Gila Bend, Arizona, as a measure of retaliation against strikers of the system federation, was the word received here today from strike leaders. W. E. Stuart wired that Roundhouse Foreman Algood and Traveling Engineer Moore, at Gila Bend, had forbidden public distribution of water at the water car maintained by the company. Superintendent Dyer declared today, that it "wasn't necessary to offer apologies for this action."

"It is taken," Dyer said, "against men who are working day and night against this company They left faucets open, wasting water for engines. That is the basis of the railroad's decision not to let them have water hereafter."

Gila Bend is a sandy waste.

ROOSEVELT ON THE WARPATH

Colonel Sharpens His Knife for "Boss" of Albany.

DECLARES BARNES MUST BE RETIRED

Evidence of Impending War Is Seen on Every Hand.

Barnes Must Be Ousted from Power in Empire State, Even If His Bowels Must Be Cut Out, Declares Roosevelt, Using Figurative Surgical Operation in Emphasizing His Intentions To Fight Old Foe.

New York, Nov. 9.—Bwana Tumbo is to take the warpath again. His knife is sharp for the hide of his old Republican foe, William Barnes, Jr., "boss" of Albany, who, as a result of Tuesday's election, has come into fresh power with an assembly overwhelmingly Republican.

The statement is published here today that Colonel Roosevelt has announced to some of his friends that he intends to have something to say about the organization of the assembly, and that he intends to see to it that the legislative body does not knuckle to the desires of Barnes and the famous old guard.

In addition to this publication the following remarkable epigrammatical statement is credited to Colonel Roosevelt:

"Barnes must be retired from power in this state; cut his bowels out if we must, to do it."

As Roosevelt referred to this figurative surgical operation the mighty hunter is reported to have swung his stout right arm in a short circle and formed his hand in the shape of a scoop.

Evidence of War.

The colonel isn't talking for publication today, but on every hand there is evidence of impending war in the political jungles of the state, not slighting the city where Charlie Murphy and the Tammany guard have sick 'tummies." A searching look at the election returns shows that, using the same figure of speech, Tammany came within an inch of disembowelment.

Manhattan only was saved to it.

Thus encouraged, the enemies of Murphy, Republicans as well as anti-Tammany Democrats, are today planning new assaults, and it looks like a bad season for the boss system all round.

While Roosevelt Republicans are fighting Barnes, with the incidental object of preventing him from assigning the delegates to the national convention, Barnes will, he says, start a legislative probe of Tammany's methods, like the famous old Lexow investigation. This, of course, would be fine retaliation for the probe that the present Democratic legislature is using upon Barnes.

PROPHET SEE IS GIVEN A SENTENCE

Gets Indeterminate Sentence of One to Five Years.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Evelyn Arthur See, founder of the cult of Absolute Life and convicted of contributing to the delinquency of Mildred Bridges, a minor, was today given an indeterminate sentence of one to five years in the penitentiary by Judge Honore. See's attorney was given thirty days to complete an appeal to the higher courts against the sentence.

A big crowd gathered in Judge Honore's court-room in expectation of an outbreak from See in defense of the "Absolute Life," the queer practices of the cult that the jury and the court decided were highly immoral and the surroundings of his youthful girl disciples at the Junior Commonwealth, as his "temple" was named.

But there was no outbreak on the part of See. Judge Honore saw to that. He did not ask the "prophet" if he had anything to say, and as a result See had to tell his troubles to the reporters after the sentence.

"I am the victim of religious prosecution," said See, after adjournment. "There is nothing in my creed or practice that would furnish any basis for a criminal charge. Like all men who have thought and worked along new lines I have been hounded by the public and persecuted by the newspapers."

Only a few of See's followers were in court and they made no demonstration.

MADERO TAKES REINS OF POWER

Amid Thousands of Cheering Mexicans.

INAUGURATION IS TRIUMPHAL AFFAIR

War-Stricken Republic Promised Peace.

The New President Declares in Unqualified Terms That Within Three Months Mexico Will Be Entirely Quiet—Crowd of 20,000 People Pack Square Where Speech of Madero Is Delivered.

Mexico City, Nov. 6.—With all the pomp and ceremony, the glint of arms and the blare of trumpets so beloved by the Latin races, Francisco I. Madero, the second president who has occupied the seat of power in the last thirty-five years, was today inaugurated president of the republic of Mexico amid the cheers of thousands who lined the streets to watch his carriage pass.

It is probable that never in the history of the world has a president of a country the size of Mexico, a ruler chosen by the people, ascended the seat of government in face of greater opposition. Alleged conspirators of the three different plots are today lodged in prisons throughout the country; General Bernardo Reyes, the aged idol, is an exile, in San Antonio, awaiting only the fullness of time to step forward and lead a counter-revolution against the man who overthrew Diaz; Guatemala, on the south, threatens a war and the treasury is well nigh bankrupt.

But in spite of all these obstacles, Madero today assumed the reins of power and in a triumphal proclamation issued just after his inauguration, promised peace to war-stricken Mexico.

Fight to Hear Speech.

Surrounded by thousands of troops whose uniforms showed only too plainly the effects of their long campaigning against the Chiapas Indians in the south, and the Zapatistas in the north, Madero, accompanied by his brother, Gustavo, and several members of his cabinet, drove down the gaily decorated streets beneath triumphal arches, to the chamber of deputies, where at noon took place the real ceremony of inauguration, following which Madero delivered his inauguration address to a crowd estimated at 20,000 persons. The huge square in front of the chamber was packed with a dense mob who literally fought to hear the words of their new president and cheered madly his promise of peace. The new president made the unqualified assertion that in three months Mexico will be entirely quiet.

"I can promise no more than this," declared Madero, "but you can rest assured that I will do all in my power to promote the prosperity of Mexico, her glory among nations and give her that which she most needs—peace."

At the conclusion of Madero's address the bands of all the regiments stationed within the city burst forth in the national anthem, in which the populace joined and then dispersed to partake of the free banquets and entertainments which Madero had ordered. Tonight, there will be a huge inaugural ball in the governor's palace, while the people dance and sing in the parks.

Gomez Is Exiled.

Tonight also, De La Barra, the provisional president, will depart for Europe, and it is expected that there will be a large crowd present to speed him on his journey. De La Barra is very popular, but Maderist troops will be on guard to quell any demonstration.

Emiliano Vasquez Gomez, former minister of the interior, has been exiled for alleged attempts to obtain the presidency, while a number of the Reyista party, whose demonstrations in favor of the exiled general today were too enthusiastic to suit the Maderists, are in prison here. It is thought, however, that Madero will release all political prisoners, on condition that they leave Mexico at once. In this case, it is believed that Reyes will appeal to Guatemala for help—and it is predicted that the new president will have his hands full maintaining the peace he has promised.

ANDERSON DENIES HE IS CANDIDATE

Is Not in the Field for Governor at This Time.

Congressman Carl C. Anderson has authorized the following sstatement in the Sanduky Register in regard to the rumor that he is a candidate for governor:

"I am not a candidate for governor, and I would not accept the nomination if it were offered to me. I authorized the Register to say so. I feel that I can do the best work now in congress for my district and my state. I have never said that I would be a candidate for governor, and have had nothing to do with all this talk about it now. I am a candidate for another term in congress. I hope to be nominated and elected."

COLUMBIANA COUNTY IS DECIDEDLY WET

Lisbon, County Seat, Only Town To Vote Dry.

East Liverpool, O., Nov. 4.—Columbiana county, in its second Rose law election, shifted from the dry to the wet column, with a majority of over 2,000, unofficially estimated. Three years ago the county gave a dry majority of 1,580 and voted out 48 saloons. East Liverpool gave a wet vote of 2,867 and a dry vote of 1,863. Correspondingly large wet gains were made elsewhere in the county. Salem, Leetonia, Wellsville and Salineville went wet, but Lisbon, the county seat, was retained by the drys.

Rev. H. A. Kelsey of the First United Presbyterian church, a former resident of Adams county, was in charge of the campaign here for the Anti-Saloon league. Josiah T. Smith, president of a local pottery company, was the nominal president of the local dry organization.

The Property and Tax Protective association was the name of the wet organization, of which Louis Steinfield, a local clothier, was president. George E. Davidson, state representative from this district, was retained by this organization as its manager.

Cora J. Bennett has been ordered to pay Stella Bennett $20 alimony, pending the decision of a divorce proceeding.

In the error proceeding of Joseph W. Harris against the State of Ohio, the judgment of the mayor in finding Harris guilty of violating the Rose law was affirmed, and Harris must pay a fine of $200 and costs.

The judgment of the mayor in the case of the State of Ohio against Benjamin Mosier was reversed. Mosier was fined $200 and costs for violating the liquor laws in the mayor's court.

Harry W. Cartwright has begun a suit for divorce from Helen R. Cartwright in the court of common pleas. The plaintiff states in his petition that he was married to the defendant May 25, 1908, in Columbus. He charges that his wife has neglected her household duties and her home, that she wants to go on the stage, and that, in view of her disposition to remain away from home, he has been obliged to secure a boarding place and live apart from his wife.

150,000 DEAD IN REBELLION

Chinese Empire Is Yet Far from Peace.

LOYAL GUNBOATS GO OVER TO THE REBELS

Yuan Shi Kai's Life Is in Great Danger.

Yuan Is Said To Be Entirely Dependent for His Safety Upon Revolutionist Commander's Good Will. Manchu Clan Also Clamors for Yuan's Death—British Admiral Asks Government for Troops.

Shanghai, Nov. 6.—The crews of the three gunboats of Admiral Sah's imperialist fleet in the Yangtse river, which put into Shanghai in ignorance of the fact that the city had passed under revolutionist control, came over to the rebels today and placed the boats at the latter's disposal. The imperialists had no choice but to yield, even if they had been unwilling to do so, as the rebel guns ashore could have blown them out of the water in the event of an attempt to escape. The rest of the fleet must also soon be surrendered, since it is without ammunition and can get no more without putting in at one of the rebel ports on the Yangtse. It can not even cruise for any distance up or down the river without becoming a target for the cannon of the shore forts, all of which are now in rebel hands.

Communication with Hankow is still interrupted. It has been impossible to learn anything concerning the fate of the Wesleyan mission and hospital and asylum for the blind which seemed doomed at last accounts, with the probable loss of the lives of their 300 odd inmates and members of the mission, hospital and asylum staffs, by the fire which was sweeping the city.

Reports that 50,000 persons have perished at Hankow are probably only wild guesses, but it seems certain that the loss of life has been enormous. Fugitives from the stricken city say that at the time they left there were many places where the streets were piled two or three deep with corpses, from one side to the other; that where the hand-to-hand fighting between rebels and imperialists was fiercest the dead lie literally in drifts and that hundreds, cut off by fires in every direction, perished in the flames.

Thousands Killed.

Since the rebellion began, it is estimated here that at least 150,000 men, women and children have been killed in battle, massacres and fires throughout the empire. It is the general opinion here that the fighting is far from being ended, that a tremendous slaughter of Manchus is inevitable sooner or later, and that the death roll may well pass the 1,000,000 mark before peace is finally restored.

Negotiations are understood to be already in progress for a combination of forces between the rebels under General Li and those of the provinces of Kiangsu, Chekiang and Fukien, which have also just declared their independence of imperial rule. Revolutionists here are enthusiastically endorsing General Li's refusal to make peace on any terms other than the emperor's deposition and the establishment of a republic.

Yuan Shi Kai is generally considered to be dependent for his safety upon the revolutionist commander's good will.

The rank and file of the rebels, among whom Yuan ventured to discuss terms, undoubtedly regard him as a traitor to the cause of freedom and would probably make short work of him but for the opinion the general is said to hold that it would be a disgrace to himself and his followers if an accredited emissary from the enemy should come to harm while at his headquarters under an implied, though not a formal, safe conduct.

On the other hand there seems no question that the Manchus consider Yuan primarily responsible for the progressive movement which culminated in the outbreak of the rebellion, and the report is widely believed that the clan has vowed his death and will certainly fulfill their pledge if he returns to Peking.

Admiral Winslow, commanding the British naval force in Chinese waters, has advised the English government to send troops to China. He is understood to have suggested that each of the world powers dispatch 1,500 soldiers to Shanghai at once.

Refuses Proposals.

Peking, Nov. 6.—General Li Yuan Hung, commander-in-chief of the rebels in southern China, has flatly refused Yuan Shi Kai's proposals for a settlement of the revolutionists's grievances against the throne. That he would do so has been feared from the first, but definite news of his decision, received here in a message from Yuan Shi Kai today, nevertheless came to the imperial court as a violent shock.

The only terms upon which General Li will make peace, Yuan states, are as follows:

Deposition and degradation of the emperor.

Formal recognition of the recently proclaimed "republic of Han."

Election by popular vote of a head of the republican government to succeed himself as self-proclaimed provisional president.

Choice of a premier from among the revolutionists.

The imperial government is powerless, even in Peking, the capital of the empire, itself. Anarchy reigns and foreign interference in China's affairs is considered imminent.

Peking Captured.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 6.—Cables today from China to a local Chinese newspaper declare that a large force of revolutionists captured Peking after a fierce engagement lasting twelve hours. No details are available and there is no confirmation.

This despatch, which came to the Tae Ton Yat Bo, was duplicated later to all the Chinese revolutionary newspapers on the Pacific coast.

The despatch said that, after desperate street fighting between rebels and imperials in Peking, the Manchu princes and their supporters fled from the capital. The last words of the cable were: "All is now peaceful," which Chinese declare means that the revolutionists have taken the capital.

Wu Accepts Post.

Shanghai, Nov. 6.—Dr. Wu Ting Fang, formerly Chinese minister to the United States, has accepted the post of secretary of foreign affairs under the provisional government, of which General Li Yuan Hung is head. Wen Tsung Yao, less widely known to Americans than ex-Minister Wu, but one of the most prominent men in the empire, has been offered a place as Wu's first assistant.

CALF PROVES STAR WITNESS

When a Juror Rides It Before the Court.

BOVINE'S OWNER WINS DECISION

After Five Time Calf's Value Is Expended.

Frozen Ears and Pink Eye Figure in Case When It Is Alleged by Owner That Calf Is Stolen from Range. Judge Orders Calf Brought into Court-Yard and a Decision Soon Follows.

Muskogee, Okla., Nov. 6.—Louis Wasserburg, a juror in the superior court of Muskogee county, went down into a lot adjoining the court-room and rode a bull calf, just to prove that he was broken to ride, and upon this evidence the jury decided the case after five times the calf's value had been spent in litigation over it.

The property in dispute was a Jersey bull calf which was born on a cold night and its ears were fozen off. Later, through the pink eye route, it acquired white spots in its eyes. The calf was owned by E. Lewis. It strayed away and was picked up on the range of Will Hill, who had lost a calf and believed it was his property. Lewis replevined the calf and the case was taken to the courts.

Lewis and his witnesses declared the calf had been brought up a pet and the Lewis boys had broken it to ride. Judge McCain of the superior court ordered the calf brought to court as an exhibit. So the calf was brought in, a distance of ten miles. When court opened, Lewis asked if the calf should be brought into the court-room, but the judge ordered it stabled in a lot nearby.

The Lewis boys were brought in and rode the calf. It behaved magnificently and made a good witness, although it was labeled an "exhibit."

When the evidence was all in and the lawyers had concluded their arguments, one of the jurors, Wasserburg, to satisfy himself that the calf was really broken to ride, took the rest of the jurors with him and went down into the lot, where he proceeded to ride the calf.

The jury immediately returned a verdict for Lewis and he took his calf back to the ranch.

FLIES ACROSS UNITED STATES

Rodgers Lands in Pasadena Sunday.

AVIATOR IS MOBBED BY CURIO HUNTERS

Thousands Fight To Shake Hands with Him.

Rodgers Reaches Pasadena After a Short Lap in Which Engine Breaks in Several Places and He Has a Narrow Escape from Death—He Explains Perilous Position—Police Are Called To Handle Crowds.

Los Angeles, Nov. 6. — The transcontinental aviator, C. P. Rodgers, completed the last lap of his epoch-making flight and descended at Tournament park, Pasadena. He was awaited by thousands, and no sooner had the birdman brought his aerial steed to earth than he was literally mobbed. Men, women and children surrounded Rodgers and fought and struggle for an opportunity to shake his hand, speak a word to him or seize some part of his dress or equipment as a souvenir. The police were compelled to use clubs in order to force the crowd back from the machine, which they were in a fair way to tear to pieces. Finally, guarded by police, Rodgers made his way through the throng and was driven to a hotel, where he went to bed, declining to see any reporters until later.

His plans call for a continuation of the flight for a distance of 70 miles, to the ocean, where he will land on the beach, thus actually completing his ocean-to-ocean trip.

Explains Perilous Situation.

Explanation by Rodgers of his remarkable escape from death when descending at Banning shows that his flight was a race for life during which he operated his machine with but one hand for a distance of six miles. When Rodgers was entering a narrow stretch on the San Gorgonio pass, his machinery broke in several places at once. One of the connecting rods of the crank shaft broke at the bottom when he was at a height of 2,500 feet.

The biplane dipped and plunged, but Rodgers, after holding the jumping broken rod with his thumb and a loosened magneto with his finger, kept the engine going at top speed. In spite of this peril and handicap he made the 20 miles from Palm Springs to his landing place at Banning in 11 minutes. It had to be a record-breaking spurt or he was doomed.

Coming over the town he was 2,500 feet high, but he turned sharply toward the mountain cliffs and took a dive almost straight downward 2,000 feet. Then instantly shifting his planes, he made a short curve and settled in a freshly plowed field.

Rodgers in his journey from New York to Banning traveled a total of 4,141 miles in 4,846 minutes, actual flying time.

TURKS APPEAL TO UNCLE SAM

On the Very Broad Ground of Humanitarianism.

PACHA PLEADS THAT BARBARITIES CEASE

President Taft May Answer the Plea Personally.

Matter Is Before Secretary Knox, but It Is Practically Certain That Taft Will Direct Form of Reply to Turkey's Appeal—Italian Ambassador Says Charge of Cruelties False and Made for Sympathy.

Washington, Nov. 6.—"Our appeal to the United States is not based on any political or territorial relation but on the broad ground of humanitarianism," said Youssouf Zia Pacha, Turkish ambassador today. "It is in the name of civilization that we appeal to the civilized countries of the world to stop the barbarities and human cruelties being practiced in Tripoli."

This is the answer of Turkey to the general suggestion that the United states would hesitate to interfere in the Italo-Turkish war on the ground that European countries with full power, are more directly interested.

"It's a case of humanity in which all nations are interested alike," said the ambassador.

Though the Turkish diplomatic officers were careful not to make any statement that might be construed as in any way anticipating action by the state department, it was clear that Turkey looks to the United States with great hopefulness.

In official circles it was pointed out here today that in some respects the United States is the most favorably situated for such intervention. Those favoring such a course believe that Uncle Sam could step in without causing any disruption in European affairs, while the action of any European power in taking the initiative might cause international complications. The matter is before Secretary Knox today, but it is practically certain that President Taft personally will direct the form of this country's answer to Turkey's appeal.

Charges Are Denied.

"Turkey's appeal for intervention at Tripoli is merely a part of a campaign being conducted throughout christendom to create sympathy based on false claims," said Charge d'Affaires Cambiaso, of the Italian embassy here this afternoon to the United Press. He hotly denied the stories of massacres and defended the government.

"Our campaign has been so successful that we have already announced the annexation of Tripoli. It is absolutely ridiculous to think that Italy would now be slaughtering her own subjects. That innocent men, women and children have been shot down by Italian soldiers, as other like reports, are false. They all emanate from Constantinople and are largely the result of misrepresentations by Turkey, made in an attempt to arouse sympathy among the nations of the world."

Cambiaso also gave out a statement which he said was a true statement of the situation at Tripoli. It was dated Sunday, and minimized Italian losses. It read in part:

"The Italian troops in and around Tripoli have been nearly doubled since October 26, and are strongly entrenched and afford a complete security against any possible attempt of reoccupation.

"A new attack from the Turk Arabian side seems unlikely. On the contrary, there is a chance for a regular advance on our part against the enemy who seems to be in a condition that any further resistance on his side is impossible."

To Probe Charges.

Washington, Nov. 6—The cruiser Chester, sailed today from Malta for Tripoli where her commander will investigate the charge of barbarities made by the Turkish government against Italy. Though the state department was silent today on the subject of intervention, it is believed that the dispatch of the Chester is the result of the Turkish appeal for help. She will reach Tripoli tomorrow.

Probing into Cases

Indianapolis Nov 7 —With an investigation into the dynamiting cases involving John J and James B McNamara as the most important task confronting it the United States grand jury met here today

GOVERNOR WU ASSASSINATED

The Manchus Accuse Him of Treason to Throne.

MANCHUS' SECOND CAPITAL MISTAKE

Grip on Empire Is Shortened by Their Acts.

By the Assassination of Wu, All His Work Tending To End the Rebellion Comes to Naught—Rebels Enraged by Death of Governor. Former Princeton Man Leads Band of Unofficial Police in Peking

Shanghai Nov 7 —Governor Wu Lu Chen, of Shan Si province, has been assassinated by Manchu soldiers it is learned here today The Manchus accused him of treason to the throne

The governor was asleep in his tent at the encampment at Shikia Chuang when killed Thirty Manchu troopers rushed the guard suddenly, dashed into the tent and cut the governor to pieces In the meantime, an alarm had been given soldiers faithful to the governor surrounded the tent and the assassins were caught to a man They protested that Wu's professions of loyalty to the throne were false and that he was secretly urging a massacre of all the Manchus The entire thirty will be beheaded

Politically Wu's assassination was a capital mistake for the Manchus in two ways It will enrage the rebels and it deprives the throne of a true supporter Wu was a revolutionist up to the time of the issuance of the imperial edict granting constitutional government to China Like Yuan Shi Kai he favored acceptance of these concessions, believing they obviated the necessity for the dynasty's overthrow

Hoping that he might win the Shan Si rebel leaders over to his views the emperor recently named Wu governor of the province and he had practically accomplished his mission when killed By his assassination, all the work that he had accomplished is undone The revolutionists are convinced that no Manchu can be trusted no matter what he may promise and the efforts of Yuan Shi Kai and others like him to save the dynasty are almost certainly rendered hopeless The general opinion here is that Yuan's own fate will be sealed if he trusts himself among the Manchus at Peking by going there to accept the premiership, as the government is urging him to do

American Active

Yesterday's reports that the capital had fallen into the rebels hands seemed to have rested on the fact that several Manchu nobles facing the loss of their pensions and power committed suicide, possibly by agreement among themselves Rumors that the city had fallen were believed here yesterday and occasioned the wildest rejoicing among the revolutionists but today's messages speak only of the suicides omitting all reference to any governmental overturning

In evidence of the critical situation in the capital however the American and British legations are known to be planning joint arrangements for protecting foreigners in the event of an outbreak of violence either by the revolutionists or by the desperate Manchu element of the population which is still vowing an indiscriminate massacre of the Peking Chinese if there should be a rebel attack from outside or a revolutionary uprising within the city walls

European recruits are swarming to the standard raised by Robert R Gailey the ex-football player of Princeton now head of the Peking Y M C A who has undertaken the organization of an Anglo American company of unofficial police and a far larger number than the twenty-five originally intended to make up the band will probably be enlisted for service In view of the fact that the long overdue monthly installment of the Boxer indemnity seems likely to be paid the Peking legations are understood to be considering the advisability today of recommending to their respective governments the wisdom of foreign control of Chinese finance

General Li the rebel leader still insists upon the emperor's deposition as the first condition to a discussion of peace terms The only concession he has made as a result of his negotiations with Yuan Shi Kai is an offer to agree on a pension to the imperial household by the republican government

TAFT HOBNOBS WITH HARMON

Governor Makes Social Call on President.

HARMON MAKES QUITE A VISIT

But Politics Not Discussed at Meeting

It Takes the President Seven Minutes To Mark His Many Ballots, and He Does His Voting Under Fire of a Battery of Cameras, and Surrounded by Army of Newspaper Men

Cincinnati Nov 7 —President Taft today hobnobbed with Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio who may be the choice of the Democratic party to oppose the president in the election of 1912

After the president had wrestled with the involved machinery of the Cincinnati municipal election, had marked nine ballots, and worked a voting machine in an effort to vote a straight Republican ticket, he returned to his brother's home There he received Governor Harmon and the governor's daughter, Mrs Cassatt The governor made quite a visit although it was purely social

It took the president seven minutes to mark his ballot, and he did his voting under the fire of a battery of cameras, and surrounded by a big squad of newspaper men

A luncheon with the Manufacturers club an address to the Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes and a dinner with the Commercial club will complete the president's stay in Cincinnati Tonight he will receive the returns of the municipal election one of the hottest political fights Cincinnati has ever seen The betting today shifted against the Republican ticket and the Democratic and their Independent Republican allies seem confident of victory

COUNT SHOWS MAINE "DRY"

State Sustains Constitutional Prohibition

FIGURES REVERSE FIRST RETURNS

The "Wets" Lose by Nearly 1,000 Votes

Governor and Council Accept Corrections in Vote of Four Towns Which Changes Complexion of Things—The Executive Will Call Extra Session To Submit Amendment to the Constitution

Augusta Me Nov 7 — Maine retains constitutional prohibition Governor Plaisted and his council late Monday night decided to accept the corrections in the vote of four towns cast in the special election in September thus reversing the result as indicated on the face of the first official returns

Returns on election day September 11 indicated a majority of about 300 against the repeal of the prohibitory amendment but later the official count showed a majority of twenty six for repeal

It was found by comparison however that in four cases the figures of the town clerks were reversed from their early returns and in each case the clerks claimed the error to be in the official figures After hearings on the subject the governor and council took the matter under consideration and the result was the announcement last night that Maine retained constitutional prohibition by 7 8 votes

Will Call Special Session

Governor Plaisted at the conclusion of the meeting said that at any early date probably in February he would call a special session of the legislature to submit an amendment to the constitution which will permit the enactment of laws concerning the liquor traffic which are capable of honest enforcement because sustained by the sentiment of the several communities to which they will be applied

An analysis of the vote the governor declared showed an overwhelming majority for it in the cities and a large majority for it in the towns

There is no question about the desire of the cities the governor concluded to improve conditions by adopting some other method in dealing with the liquor traffic An amendment to the constitution should be submitted to the people to be voted upon next September under the terms of which cities should have the right to invoke and enact local legislation within their limits

SHORT MEASURES CAUSE COMPLAINTS

Appeals Are Made to C M Tobin Against the Practice

C M Tobin the newly appointed sealer of weights and measures who will assume those duties the first of the year is already being appealed to as a result of some local dealers being accused of giving out short measure One man called at Clerk Tobin's office Tuesday to register a complaint about short measures The man states that he purchased six bushels of apples from a local produce dealer and on weighing the fruit found that he was short seventy-two pounds on the six bushels

Similar instances of peddlers giving short measure have come to light and action against some of these will be taken if the practice is continued A woman reported to Officer Cusick that she purchased six bushels of potatoes from a peddler and later measured them and found that she had received five bushels

SOME IMPRESSIONS OF A MARION BALLOONIST

Ralph T Lewis Talks of Voyage Through Air.

ROADS APPEAR LIKE LONG WHITE RIBBONS

The Trip Is Made in Safety and the Landing Is Made Easy by a Number of Men Working in a Clover Field Near North Lewisburg—An Interesting Trip Recorded

The air voyage of Ralph T Lewis of this city was noted in the columns of the Star Saturday Some of the experiences of the Marion man in his first balloon trip were of interest Impressions gained on this trip will not be forgotten in a lifetime

Mr Lewis has returned from North Lewisburg where he landed from his trip in the balloon Hoosier Saturday afternoon Mr Lewis in company with Dr P M Crane Joseph E Light of the Dayton Gas company and Bert Kloffel, of the Dayton Herald left the Dayton aviation grounds in the big balloon Saturday afternoon at 12 50 o'clock with Dr Cune as the pilot and landed at North Lewisburg fifty miles north of the starting point at 1 10 o'clock Dr L E Custer who was alone in the Luzerne the only other balloon entered in the race left the aviation field at 12 19 and landed at Raymond twelve miles beyond North Lewisburg at 1 19 o'clock

The name of the winner of the silver cup will be announced at a meeting of the Dayton Aero club

When interviewed Tuesday Mr Lewis said in describing his trip We had been up but a few minutes when we began throwing out ballast At 1 — when we were eight miles from Dayton we were 2 200 feet high At 1 16 the instrument registered 2 000 feet and at 1 17 one minute later we shot up to 2 600 feet without realizing it At 1 20 we were registered 400 feet above the ground and kept that distance for about an hour We were 400 feet above the earth when the balloon passed over Urbana At other times we went low enough to call to people and could easily hear and be heard You can hear people talking at a distance of from 600 to 1 000 fee and once when we were 2 00 feet in the air we distinctly heard a man pounding in a barn

The panorama was beautiful The plowed fields looked like an upturned rug the roads like so many white ribbons and the buildings and trains like toys The whole effect was beautiful and the coloring was very fine All along the way we threw out cards from Dayton firms

As there was one more passenger than was originally intended and as we had only one sack of the ten bags of sand left Dr Cune noticing a number of men working in a large clover field a mile from North Lewisburg decided to light We called to the men in the field to catch our drag rope which was 150 feet long and about two inches in diameter Finally they understood and we came down very easily and without an accident Soon hundreds of people were on the ground and before long we were on our way to the town where the Dayton party took the same train that Dr Custer was returning on

Correction in Figures

In computing the dry vote in the city of Marion last Wednesday night the Stars total showed the vote seventy too high which would make the wet majority in the city 72 instead of 2 as given This error—and how it occurred is a mystery as a comparison of the figures made by the adding machine and those on the Star's table show them to be identical—makes no difference whatever in the wet total majority of 45 simply adds seventy to the dry vote in the county and seventy to the wet vote in the city

PEKING'S FALL PURE FICTION

Rebels Develop Aptitude for Distorting Truth.

COMMUNICATION IS NOW CUT OFF

London Unable To Get Least Information.

Wild Story That Capital of Chinese Empire Has Fallen into Hands of Rebels Is Not Confirmed—Rumor That Emperor Has Fled Is Also Taken as Untrue—Manchus End Lives.

London Nov 7 —Quickly following reports that Peking is in the hands of the Chinese rebels, came announcements from the telegraph companies that all wire communication with the capital city has been severed

The latest dispatches received in London from Peking do not refer in any way to altered conditions in Peking but the reports that the rebels have captured the city continue to persist at Shanghai and other points In spite of this the latest telegrams do not confirm the report and there is a suggestion that the rumors are willfully put out by the revolutionists to assist their cause

It is impossible in view of the existing circumstances to determine the truth or falsity of the rumors That Prince Ching is a prisoner, that many Manchu nobles have committed suicide that the imperial troops have revolted and that the emperor and prince regent have fled are some of the reports which have been telegraphed here While there is reason to suspect the reliability of the reports the events of the past few days demonstrate that nothing that might happen in China should cause surprise

MAC VEAGH OPPOSES THE BANKERS' PLAN

Secretary of the Treasury Makes This Declaration.

Washington, Nov 7 —His unalterable opposition to the New York scheme whereby national banks propose to hold the stocks of other banks through the medium of a holding company was announced by Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh here today The secretary declared that to permit such a system was to invite the concentration of the banking power of the country into the hands of a few men This the American public would not tolerate he said

The Aldrich plan for currency reform must be modified in many respects declared the secretary, before he will give it his approval He intends to urge the adoption by congress of a modification of the Aldrich scheme

MacVeagh believes sentiment for a national reserve association is growing Any party or faction in congress said the secretary would suffer if it stood in the way of currency legislation this winter He will speak on the subject in Chicago Saturday night

DEMOCRATS GET THE BIG CITIES

Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus Captured.

BAKER MADE MAYOR OF THE FOREST CITY

Karb Defeats Marshall in the Capital City.

Independents Retain Possession of Offices at Toledo, Whitlock Being Given Fourth Term as Mayor, While Canton Reelects Turnbull, Democrat—Akron and Youngstown in Republican Ranks.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 8.—Newton D. Baker, styled the political heir of Tom L. Johnson, 3-cent fare mayor of Cleveland, was elected to the mayoralty four times held by his chief, by a plurality estimated at 18,000. Tom Johnson's greatest plurality was under 13,000.

Baker, city solicitor under Johnson and re-elected in 1909 when Herman Baehr, Republican, defeated Johnson, snowed under the Republican nominee, Frank G. Hogen, and carried his entire city ticket into office with him. Only six of the city's 28 wards elected Republican councilmen, the Democratic restoration to power being complete.

The Socialist candidate, C. E. Ruthenberg, polled a large vote, in some precincts getting more than twice as many votes as Hogen. Indications are that Ruthenberg will receive between 5000 and 6000 votes.

The proposition to bond the city for the purpose of erecting a municipal electric light plant seems to have been beaten, however, though both parties approved the plan. There being seven separate ballots, the count is slow, and it will not be known how the constitutional delegates stand until late, though it is pretty certain that all who indorsed direct legislation will be named.

Wins by 5,000 Plurality.

Cincinnati, Nov. 8.—Henry T. Hunt, the young Democratic prosecutor of this county, who vigorously but futilely prosecuted George B. Cox on the charge of perjury, was elected Democratic mayor of Cincinnati by a plurality which was decisive over his competitor, Dr. Louis Schwab, a Republican of lifelong prominence in this city and the organization candidate for re-election. The entire Democratic ticket was elected.

These results were in spite of vigorous, even almost frantic, efforts of the old guard of the organization to retain control of the city and county offices; also in spite of the fact that President Taft, a few days ago in an open letter to former Mayor Julius Fleischmann, declared his intention of voting the entire Republican ticket.

Some months ago the Republican leader, George B. Cox, announced his retirement and the president's attitude was credited to this.

Comparison with previous election returns are practically impossible on account of the recent redistricting of wards in the city, but apparently Hunt's plurality will exceed 5,000.

Brand Whitlock Wins.

Toledo, O. Nov. 8.—Returns show the re-election of Brand Whitlock for mayor for a fourth term and the entire independent ticket with the possible exception of police clerk. The entire city council is also likely independent, assuring the people of Toledo of 3-cent fares and universal transfers in the pending streetcar fight. Nearly 30,000 votes were cast here, which breaks all records for local municipal elections. Whitlock's plurality is from 2,500 to 3,000. Senator David Kellar, Republican, ran second, W. F. Reis, Socialist, third, and C. S. Ashley, Democrat, fourth. The Socialist vote was about 5,000.

CLAUDE D. WALTERS,
Democrat Selected To Be Mayor of Marion.

Marshall Is Defeated.

Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—George J. Karb has been elected mayor of Columbus by a sweeping plurality. The figures now in from both Republican and Democratic headquarters, and from the board of elections, are from all parts of the city. North, south, east and west all show large Democratic gains—so large as to be unexpected even by the most hopeful of Mr. Karb's backers.

On the returns Mr. Karb's plurality over Mayor Marshall will be 6000. The Socialists, while they cast a heavy vote, did not get nearly that which they expected, nor did they get as heavy a vote as was expected by the other parties. Neither did Mayor Marshall get the vote which was expected, in many precincts his ballots running far behind the number shown he would receive by the poll taken by Democratic workers before election.

The Socialist "strongholds" in the West and South Sides and in the Panhandle district, northeast, gave Karb as many votes as both Mr. Eby and Mayor Marshall together.

Karb was elected by about 5,000 in a total vote of 43,000. Eby, Socialist, ran third, polling about 10,000 votes.

Progressives Elected.

Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—Makers of the new Ohio constitution, as indicated by yesterday's election, probably will be progressive. In Cuyahoga county, while returns are incomplete, nine of the 10 delegates are progressive. In Hamilton the results are not radically different, while in Franklin the three successful candidates are pronouncedly progressive.

Sandusky.

Sandusky, O., Nov. 8.—Returns indicate that George T. Lehrer, Republican, is elected by 350 over William Leitz, Democrat. The Socialists polled about 700 votes, which is high-water mark. Returns indicate that Judge King is elected as constitutional delegate. He is opposed to the initiative, referendum and recall and for separate submission of the liquor question.

Wet Democrat Wins.

Coshocton, O., Nov. 8.—Mayor Cassingham, wet Democrat, was re-elected by 300 majority. Smith, Socialist, ran second, with Ritchie, dry independent, running a poor third. In all probability Myers, dry progressive, has been elected constitutional delegate.

Liberal Candidate Wins.

Newark, O., Nov. 8.—Swartz, Liberal Democrat, was elected mayor over Bigbee, Law Enforcement Republican, by about 300 plurality, although Republicans will elect a few minor officers.

Pressed Closely by Socialist.

Canton, O., Nov. 8.—Mayor A. R. Turnbull, Dem., was elected mayor of Canton, being closely pressed by Charles Shilling, Socialist.

Garfield Overwhelmed.

Painesville, O., Nov. 8.—Returns indicate that James H. Garfield has been defeated for constitutional delegate by a decisive plurality.

Figures and Comment.

Tuesday's election was one of surprises. Perhaps the greatest of these was the vote received by the Socialist candidate for mayor. Frank Hain, who polled 1,005 votes, less than 400 votes behind the Republican nominee. It gave color to the story that disgruntled drys intended to swing away from Brockett to the Socialist ticket. Another surprise was the enormous vote polled by the women candidates for school board. Mrs. Anna Whiting, for school board, received the largest plurality given any candidate in the city, 953, and that of Mrs. Jeanette Lammers Hutchinson, was less than a hundred lower, 863.

The switching of the First ward to a Republican councilman and the Fourth to a Democratic must also be figured as something in the nature of surprises. But the study of the figures will show that the list was not complete with these.

Republican Victory.

Despite the fact that the Republicans of Marion failed to land their candidate for mayor, Don E. J. Brockett, who was defeated by the Democratic candidate, Claude D. Walters, by a plurality of 242, they achieved a signal victory in the city.

Earl T. Smart, Republican candidate for president of the council, beat out his Democratic opponent, I. J. Rudolph, by a plurality of 389; Harry E. Mason, Republican nominee for city auditor, bested William J. Fies, Democrat, by 217; G. F. Larie, Republican candidate for city treasurer, was 176 votes to the better of his Democratic opponent Charles W. Criswell; Fred W. Warner, Republican candidate for solicitor, ran 574 ahead of Fred E. Guthery, the Democratic selection for the place, and the three Republican candidates for councilmen-at-large were in a class by themselves. L. E. Nebergall had a plurality of 476 over the highest Democratic opponent, T. J. Lucas. The plurality of William B. Strayer was 461, while that of Joseph Sneckenberger was 333. The vote was Nebergall, 1,716; Strayer, 1,701 Sneckenberger, 1,573; Lucas, 1,240; DeLauder, 1,188, and Roseberry, 1,108

A Clean Sweep.

From the foregoing, it will be seen that the Republicans made a clean sweep of the city ticket with the exception of mayor.

In the wards, the Republicans broke even They elected Harry Krause in the First by a plurality of 175 over W. L. Ullom and George Smith in the Third by a plurality of eight over B. B. Carter. Democrats carried the Second and Fourth wards, Thomas Clary getting a plurality of forty-two over E. E Blazer, and A. J. Sautter, succeeding himself by winning over W. J. Myers by a plurality of twenty-three

From this it will be seen that the Republicans are in control of council, the complexion of the new body being five Republicans and two Democrats

Judicial Ticket.

The Democrats had a walkaway on the judicial ticket, the pluralities of Charles W. Haberman and Charles E. Gompf being 547 and 256, respectively over the highest Republican competitor, John J. Crawley. The vote was: Haberman, 2,112; Gompf, 1,821; Crawley, 1,565, and McKinley, 1,136.

The School Board.

When it came to the fight on school board, neither of the old parties had reason to brag, although the Republicans did land George Sauer. It goes without the saying that the school board fight was only a degree less intense than the contest for the mayoralty, and the honors went to the fair sex. Mrs. Anna Whiting, with a vote of 2,188, and Mrs. Jeannette L. Hutchinson, with 2,098, simply ran away from the remainder of the ticket. Even Mrs. Coil, running on the Prohibition ticket, received 862 votes, just 806 more than the vote of fifty-six, received by the head of her ticket, the Prohibition candidate for mayor, Mr. Harrold.

The vote on the leading five candidates aside from the independents mentioned was: George Sauer, Republican, 1,598; A. B. Lawson, Republican, 1,235; J. W. Jacoby, Democrat, 1,111; A. M. Pickering, Democrat, 1,074, and George H. Dutton, Republican, 1,016.

Township Ticket.

On the township ticket, Democracy had pretty much its own way. It elected two of the three trustees over the fourth man, John W. Kleinfelter, G. F. Barks getting a plurality of sixty-five and Charles Peterson drawing a plurality of seventeen. Major S. N. Titus, the only Rpublican elected, led with a plurality of 189. W. D. Whipps, Democrat, and Clark Dix, Republican, were the low men.

Isaac E. Osbun, Republican, secured a plurality of 412 over C. E. Gilbert, his Democratic opponent and C. P. Gailey, Democrat, ran a close race with C P. Gailey, Republican, finally nosing the later out by a vote of seventy-three, for township treasurer.

Both the Democratic candidates for constable were elected, James Ullom and Joseph Long, having pluralities of forty-five and four, respectively over Benjamin F. Bigford and J. D. Schickedantz, the two Republicans, receiving 1,712 and 1,259 votes, as named

In the matter of assessors, results were fairly divided. In Third B there wasn't a single vote cast for anybody, and County Auditor Jay Spaulding will naturally name a Republican. In First B, Harry Stoll, Democrat, had no opposition and received 111 votes. First D gave William Bonham, Republican, sixty-five without opposition. John Haines, Democrat, received sixty-six votes the same way in First E. Joseph Long elected constable on the Democratic ticket, received 128 in Third E. without opposition William Thatcher, Republican, had no opponent in Third F. and got seventy-four votes. In Fourth B, Frang Purington, Republican, was likewise lucky, and polled 159 votes.

The Contest for Accessors

The contest for assessors were as follows:

First A—Joe Voll, Democrat, 119. E. E. Drown, Republican, 78: Voll's plurality, forty-one.

First C—C. B. Chase, Republican, seventy-five; John Berry, Democrat, one; Chase's plurality, seventy-four.

Second A—J. H. Landes, Republican, 148; John Hockstetter, Democrat, eighty-four; Landes' plurality, sixty-four.

Second B—Thomas Meade, Democrat, 114; R. C. Nusser Republican, fifty two; Meade's plurality, sixty-two.

Second C—Peter Boger, Democrat ninety-six; William Ireland, Republican, ninety-three; Boger's plurality, three.

Third A—John Vestal, Republican, 134; O. S. Falley, Democrat, sixty-six; Vestel's plurality, sixty-eight.

Third C—J. M. Davidson, Republican, 147; Frank Long Democrat, ninety-seven; Davidson's plurality, fifty.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO LINCOLN

As Statue of War President Is Unveiled.

TAFT CALLS LINCOLN A GREAT AMERICAN

In Dedication Address Today at Frankfort.

With His Love of Truth, the Supreme Trait of His Intellect, Accompanied by a Conscience Insisting on the Right, We Have Combination That Makes Lincoln One of Greatest Americans.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 8.—In his address dedicating the statue of Abraham Lincoln in the capitol square here today, President Taft paid a high tribute to Lincoln's goodness of heart and keenness of mind.

"I don't think it is too much to say that Lincoln had the most judicial temperament of any man in history," said the president. "He considered the arguments of his opponents with all the fairness of John Stuart Mill, and though not like that mild philospher removed from the turmoils of life, but in the very center of the fray, he neverthless preserved that calm judicial consideration of the views of every one that became important, and in his disagreement with them he left nothing more than the application of an apt story or a clear euclid-like demonstration of error without sting

"With his love of truth, the supreme trait of his intellect, accompanied by a conscience that insisted on the right as he knew it, with a great heart full of tenderness, we have the combination that made Lincoln one of the two greatest Americans."

MINOR BATTLES IN THE COUNTY

The Rural Precincts Have Battles of Their Own.

NO MONOPOLY ON INTEREST IN CITY

The Contagion for Radical Changes Spreads.

The Democrats Sweep Waldo as the Result of a Battle for Control of the School Board—Many Women Are Enlisted in the Village Battle, with Better Schools as Slogan. Other Results in the County.

While interest in the contest in Marion was unbounded, the rural precincts found much in their contests to stay up at night and wait for with expectancy. Every precinct had something that called for the attention of voters, and the race in many places was watched eagerly.

The school board fight at Waldo was an example of some of the other minor battles throughout the county. The results in the various rural precincts are as follows:

Waldo Village

The Democrats made a sweep at Waldo, placing but one Republican on the school board. This was the result of the fight for members of the school board presenting a three-cornered situation. Many people of the village were working for those who favored better schools, and claimed the platform of Newton Emery and Wesley Klingle was not satisfactory. These men were defeated at the primaries, but came out independently. At the election they secured many women supporters. The residents of the village then went together with a view to defeating Emery and Klingle, the former a Republican the later a Democrat.

Fred Hayes, Republican, and W. E. Augestine, Democrat, submitted to defeat and attention was given to getting out the vote for H. O. Ringert, Democrat, and O. H. Donithen, Republican. The village was canvassed and the women were induced to vote, the result being that ever sixty women cast votes for members of the board and Ringert and Donithen were elected. The village ticket is as follows all being Democrats:

Mayor, W. C. F. Michel; marshal, Walter W. Kingle; treasurer, J. D. Bower; clerk, W. D. Kraner; councilmen, Jacob Akron, Melvin Strine, Daniel Mochel, George Cook, J. P. Augenstine and W. E. Augenstine.

NORRIS IS THE VOTERS' CHOICE

He Receives a Plurality Over Snyder of 869.

GETS 1,700 VOTES IN CITY OF MARION

Total Vote for Successful Candidate Is 2,844.

H. R. Snyder Gets 1,975 Votes, W. E. Harkness 805 and W. J. Robbins 748—Robbins Is the Socialist Candidate for Delegate to the Constitutional Convention—How Vote Stands in Precincts.

The race for constitutional delegate from Marion county, Tuesday, was a runaway for Judge Caleb H. Norris The early returns from the city gave him a strong vote and it looked as if he were not to have any opposition whatever. But later on, when the returns from the country precincts began to drift in, there was a moment or two when H. R. Snyder came along some. The spurt made by Snyder, however, was but momentary, and before the evening was far advanced it was plain that Norris was the man.

The election board had arranged for the judges in the respective precincts to count the votes on delegates first, and thus it was that Marion county's representative to the convention to write a new constitution for Ohio was known long before even a fair idea could be had on the complexion of the city ticket.

There were two other candidates —W E. Harkness, Republican, and W. J. Robbins, Socialist—but they cut little figure in the race. Norris, the Democrat, whose petition was circulated by his friends and who did not make a campaign, took the honors with a plurality of 869 over Snyder, who ran as an independent. Norris' vote was 2,844 and that of Snyder, 1,975. Harkness came next with 805, and Robbins last, with 748.

In the city, Norris polled 1,700; Snyder, 1,012; Robbins, 529; and Harkness, 501.

SATURDAY - - NOVEMBER 11

The Marion city voter tackled five separate ballots at the polls Tuesday, and this is only one step in the progression to political utopia. If we had the referendum and recall we might have had quite as many more, at Tuesday's election. We might have had some recalls on the board of education. We might have had a half dozen new laws to make good by popular sanction. When one contemplates the possibility of new-fangled ideas, there is satisfaction in noting the election of Judge Norris to the constitutional convention.

The election of Judge Norris as delegate to the constitutional convention, under the existing circumstances, is a fine tribute to his great ability and his splendid record on the bench. Of course, his long residence in Marion and his wide and popular acquaintance had a share in constributing to his victory, for Messrs. Snyder, Harkness and Robbins were all much less acquainted and of relative shorter residence, but the recognition of Judge Norris' exceptional fitness for the place, was the factor that contributed largely to his election, in spite of his reluctance to be a candidate and his refusal to make a campaign. It is no disparagement of the defeated candidates to say Marion county has chosen well. Judge Norris will be a conspicuous and forceful factor in the shaping of a new constitution. His knowledge and good judgment will have its impress on the work of the convention body. This paper is not strong in the belief that any new constitution will be adopted in Ohio, though several changes would be very helpful, but we do believe that such a constitution as Judge Norris assists in proposing, will be worth while.

The casting of more than one thousand votes for Mr. Hain, the Socialist candidate for mayor, does not indicate so great a growth of the Socialist party in Marion. The candidacy of Mr. Robbins for constitutional delegate, which was more likely to draw the full strength of the Socialist party, brought out less than seven hundred votes in all of Marion county. The Socialists are gaining in numbers, but Mr. Hain's vote reflects something of pouting drys, who can see no issue in the election of the chief executive of a city like Marion except the saloon question. Limited vision!

The papers announce that one Woodworth has created a trust by combining all the "ten cent" stores of the country; also that he is building, entirely from his own resources, the tallest, largest skyscraper in New York. We only mention the matter to call attention to the fact that these "chain stores" put all their profits into pockets and buildings remote from where they are gathered and that the proposed skyscraper will be a monument to low wages, cheap service and consecrated selfishness, gathered in cities like Marion to contribute to the greatness of New York.

The Chicago Tribune says that the college yell is the product of overheated enthusiasm and under-developed powers of expression. That is probably as much as can be truthfully said by way explanation and justification.

Champ Clark is aware that a reputation as a humorist is fatal to a statesman. Consequently he is straining himself to convince the people that he was in dead earnest in his funny speech urging Canadian annexation. But a reputation for being a damphool is as fatal as the other.

Maybe Attorney General Hogan plans to wait until after Thanksgiving before turning the penitentiary and state hospital inside out.

It wouldn't surprise us a bit to learn that Governor Harmon was holding himself up as a public benefactor in blowing in that $6,000,000 left by a Republican predecessor, claiming that he had put the money into circulation.

A Zanesville woman, who has attained an age of 100 years, says she has never been kissed. Who could imagine a sadder fate than that?

Senator La Follette apparently isn't wise to the fact that no man is big enough to constitute a political party.

One can not help but think that the revolutionists over in China showed mighty good judgment by deferring the uprising until the late dowager empress had gone to her fathers.

And some of the candidates before the recent election, who sought to impress you with the view that they were the whole works when it came to fitness for office, in private life may be really decent, unassuming fellows.

TWO ADDRESSES IN THE CLOSING SESSION

Rev. A. I. Leonard Urges That Satan Gains Ground.

EVIDENCES FOUND IN ALL THE CITIES

A Movement To Save the Men and Boys—Rev. J. W. Heininger, the Presiding Elder, Delivers an Address Containing Much Food for Thought—Review of the Talks.

The convention of the Young People's alliance of the Columbus district of the Evangelical church convened at the Calvary Evangelical church, Tuesday evening.

The meeting was opened with a song and praise service led by Rev. John Hobson, after which Rev. E. L. Weatherwax, pastor of the local church and district superintendent of the alliance, made a few remarks of welcome. After several fine selections by the choir, Rev. J. W. Heininger delivered an address on "Our Objective."

Rev. Mr. Heininger said in part: "Institutes, training schools, schools of method, wisdom approves them all, but above all, method in alliance work are motives and objectives. What is it that sets you going, and where do you expect to land? It can never satisfy a rational mind just to know that motion has been inaugurated and to feel that consequently results must follow. A merry-go-round has motion and produces results. It goes round and round and may lull to sleep or produce nausea and leave its passengers at the spot where they got on. Progress of that kind is too often the result of the sort of 'go' that characterizes alliance work. We go —but where? Round and round in the circle of our set services and forms—so many services a week and so many minutes to a service. Serving God by the clock. And any one who was there last year knows just how it is run this year, and he would be surprised greatly to learn that the results from these 'shelf-worn conventionalities' are any better in quality and in quantity.

Our Prayers.

"Many of us say our prayers without thinking and do our work with our eyes shut. Are we just traveling or are we going somewhere? We know what we are working at, but what are we working for? In answer to inquiries concerning the work, we sometimes hear, 'Well, we're holding our own.' That isn't traveling at all, except possibly as a merry-go-round travels.

"What energetic, progressive business man would be satisfied with that kind of a report? His dissatisfaction with such a condition challenges us to match him in equal dissatisfaction when we are not able to more than hold our own. Life, to be worthy of a rational being, must always be in possession. We must always purpose to do more or better than in time past,' said Johnson.

"Stagnation in alliance work is due, not to the fact that we have outgrown the need of such an organization as the Young People's alliance, but because we have in our local work traveled in a circle until we have worn a rut so deep that progress is impossible and our existence is imperiled. This situation is a drag to those who are in the alliance and is uninviting to those without.

"Men go to church to get a new inspiration to live, and women, too, mostly. There must be that there which will minister unto life or failure will result from the main thing in all of our work is life, and no motive or objective in our work can be considered adequate unless it eventuates in enduring life. The Young People's alliance that means to do God's will can not do it by remaining contentedly within four walls singing its songs and saying its prayers regardless of the great mass of humanity that surges by the door of the half-filled church."

Morning Session.

There was a good attendance at the session of the convention of the Young People's alliance at the Calvary Evangelical church Wednesday. The song service with which the program was opened was in charge of Rev. E. S. Flora, of Upper Sandusky.

A general discussion on the theme "A Work for Everyone and Everyone at Work," proved very profitable. The delegates and other interested workers took part and many new thoughts regarding the work of the alliance were brought out. Rev. W. H. Munk, of Findlay, gave a discussion on "Personal Work," immediately following a round-table talk by Rev. J. W. Heininger, of this city. The general discussions of the morning were of great interest.

The following is the list of those registered as delegates Wednesday: Grace Payne, Circleville; Opal B. Lutz, Circleville; Nova Stoker and Tressie Trexler, Upper Sandusky; Lula Baird and Rose Leist, Stoutsville; Edna Bell, Amanda; Florence Munk, and Doris McElhaney, Findlay; Esther Steininger, McCory; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Diehlman, Findlay; Mrs. E. F. George and Emma Wheatley, Columbus; L. C. Hoover, Benton Ridge, Mrs. H. L. Zachman, Lancaster; C. W. Ruhlman, Amanda; E. B. Zachman, Marion; E. A. Terry, Stoutville; B. C. Wittenmyer and Elva Wittenmyer, Benton Ridge; C. M. Pagnard, Upper Sandusky; W. H. Munk, Findlay; E. S. Flora, Upper Sandusky; Carrie Metzgar, Columbus and Ruth Uncapher, Marion.

Declaring that Satan is gaining considerable ground as indicated by the recent elections, that there are less church members in the cities today than there were ten years ago and that there are 3,000,000 more women and girls in the churches than there are men and boys, Rev. A. I. Leonard, of Columbus, a representative of the "Men and Religion Forward Movement," which was recently organized in New York, gave a stirring address at the closing session of the convention of the Young People's alliance of the Evangelical church in the Columbus district at the Calvary Evangelical church, Wednesday evening. An able address, as enthusiastic as that of Rev. Mr. Leonard was also delivered by Rev. J. W. Heininger, presiding elder of the Columbus district of the church, during the evening.

Rev. E. L. Weatherwax, district superintendent of the alliance, was in charge of the session. Rev. E. S. Flora, of Upper Sandusky, was in charge of the song service and Rev. E. F. George, of Columbus, conducted the devotional exercises.

The first address was that of Rev. Mr. Leonard, who declared in his opening remarks that the name "Men and Religion Forward Movement" sounded good to him, because too often it has been a woman and girls' forward movement. He showed early in his address the fact that there are so many more women and girls in the Protestant churches of America than there are men and boys, and he said it was evident that the men and religion movement has not been found more often than it should be up until the organization of the national movement started by a few leaders gathered in New York. On his visits about the country, in ninety-five out of 100 churches, he said, the congregations are composed of from sixty to seventy-five per cent. women and girls, and from twenty-five to forty per cent. men and boys.

Figures Presented.

"In the census of 1910," said the speaker, "it is shown that there is a constant movement toward the cities. More than forty per cent. of the people of the United States are in the cities and within a decade half of the people will be living in the cities. You may or may not like that outlook. Personally, I believe that it would be better if more of the people would remain in the country. It is in the cities that the church of Jesus Christ is losing ground. We have fewer church members in our cities today than we had ten years ago. The people, especially the men and boys, are coming into our cities and we are losing them. I expect that Satan is to be routed, but the church must wake up if it is to be done. We must have God working with us.

"There are a good many evidences that satan is gaining some ground in our cities. The recent elections are demonstrating that. When I arrived here I walked up the street, and like every city I found this one is lined with five-cent picture theaters. Our boys and girls are spending entirely too much time in them. They are not getting any good out of them and too often they get much that they would be better off without. The church is not getting the boys. It is losing all too many of them. This new movement is organized to accept the challenge, and its primary object is to save the 3,000,000 men and boys who are not in the churches. When we get that done we will save a great many more.

Mr. Leonard emphasized Bible study, evangelism, missions, boys' work and social service as the foundation principles, and in speaking of the latter he referred to the way the men are flocking to the Socialist party as indicated in the elections. He said that it was reported of the candidate on the Socialist ticket for mayor of Columbus that he had said Christianity was a failure and the church was a farce. If the party is to draw so many to her fold it must be considered by thinking men.

Something Wrong.

"Evidently," the speaker said, "there is something wrong or these men would not be leaving the old parties and flocking to the ranks of the Socialists. As Christian men the church workers should find out these things."

Rev. J. W. Heininger was the next speaker on the program, and he spoke of the forward movement showing that its purpose was to get men ready to love God and humanity. He said that Satan had not yet been entirely vanquished, when already in this city it is necessary to haul off drunken men in drays as was done on the streets here, Wednesday. Rev. Mr. Heininger spoke of the necessary equipment and consecration for soul winning, and he showed that a passionate love for Christ and for humanity is necessary.

"A thorough consecration to the service of the Master is necessary. There are 13,000,000 men between the ages of sixteen and thirty who do not attend church regularly, and there are 7,000,000 who never enter a church. Prayer, patience and perseverance are necessary. In speaking of consecration the speaker said that what is needed is not ability, but availability.

"How many find themselves so given to God that they are willing to give themselves wholly to God. Many are too busy to go to prayer services and too busy to read the Bible and think it too great a sacrifice to attend church services twice on Sunday, and yet they call themselves wholly consecrated to God. It not strange that men look cross-eyed at the church. Amusement places are crowded to the doors and there is only a handful at the prayer services. The men and women who go to these amusement places work just as hard during the day as the Christian people who say they are too tired to attend the services."

The convention was closed with the benediction by Rev. E. S. Flora, of Upper Sandusky.

Wednesday Afternoon.

There was a quite good attendance at the Wednesday afternoon session of the convention. Rev. J. W. Heininger conducted a round-table early in the afternoon and the first address was made by Rev. L. C. Hoover, of Benton Ridge. Rev. E. F. George, of Columbus, also gave an address on the subject, "Mission Study."

One of the most interesting and helpful addresses of the afternoon was that of Rev. H. L. Zachman, a former Marion boy, who is now a pastor at Lancaster. His theme was "The Reflex Influence of Systematic and Proportionate Giving."

"There are many church people today," he said, "who are withholding from God what belongs to Him. They will never get the peace and power of a good Christian until they overcome this. An awful stinginess is causing many a church to be without a real revival. If we expect to receive, we must give. We should realize that giving is as much a part of a service as the prayer and hymns."

Miss Sarah Myers, of this city, was the last speaker on the program. She read a paper on, "The Children for Christ." She said that in too many cases the children were overlooked.

A business session closed the program of the afternoon.

THE LAST SESSION OF MISSION INSTITUTE

United Brethern Church Scene of Gathering.

DR. A. SNIDER GIVES INTERESTING ADDRESS

Dr. Snider Is a Former Pastor of the Local Church—He Talks of the Work of Securing New Members and the Important Point of Keeping Them—Notes of Meeting.

The institute of the Sandusky branch of the Woman's Missionary association of the United Brethren church was held at the local United Brethren church Wednesday. Representatives were present from various churches included in this district which is comprised of the churches of Marion, Marion circuit, Galion, Bucyrus, Hepburn, Cardington, North Baltimore and Shelby.

The purpose of the institute is to inspire an interest in missionary work among the women and tight of these institutes are being held this month.

The opening session convened at 10 o'clock, Wednesday, with Mrs. O. E. Knapp, of Bowling Green, presiding as chairman. Mrs. Shumaker, a returned missionary from China, and a conference organizer of missionary societies, conducted the half-hour devotional service after which Miss Geneva Harper, of Dayton, secretary of the Young Women's department, delivered a fine address on "An Efficient Christian and the Missionary Society."

Age of Efficiency.

"This seems to be an age of efficiency," said Miss Harper. "efficient business men, efficient mechanics, efficient in art trades and professions. An efficient workman in demand. No one else need apply, it almost seems we might add. While the world calls so loudly for skilled laborers thch usiness of our King demands efficient workmen. Our God deserves our very best. The word 'efficient' means being able to produce results. An efficient Christian then is one who is able to produce results. A Christian to be worthy of the name must be an efficient Christian, for faith without works is dead. But we can not always judge between the efficient and the non-efficient Christian, for we do not always see the results of our neighbors' efforts neither do we we always see the results of our own. It is not always the one who appears to be the most capable who is the most efficient.

A Great Longing.

"All of us I believe have in our hearts a great longing and an earnest desire to do something for our master. We want to see His kingdom advnce, we want to see souls saved. We should endeavor so to cultivate our mind and heart that we may not be reproach to Him from whom we prefer to receive our commission. We must be workmen, we have much to do and we must take great pains in what we do."

Miss Harper dwelt at length on this subject and brought forth much good material for thought. At the conclusion of her address, Mrs. Miller, wife of the United Brethren minister at Bucyrus, sang a solo.

Mrs. A. E. Davis, of Shelby, lead the discussion, "Efficiency, Why's and How's." The point gained in the discussion was that the women are strengthened in their missionary endeavors by meeting together. Mrs. Shumaker stated that if a church could not have a missionary study class it might possibly have a reading circle but that it should have some kind of a class to promote the missionary spirit.

At noon adjournment was made for luncheon after which the afternoon session opened at 1:30 o'clock.

The last session of the Woman's Missionary Association institute which was held at the United Brethren church, Wednesday afternoon, was very interesting.

The principal address of the afternoon was given by Miss Geneva Harper, of Dayton who spoke on "An Efficient Missionary Society at Work." She told of the good a missionary society could do in a community and said that if every member was an efficient worker she could accomplish much in furthering the missionary spirit among the church members. Her talk was along the same lines as her address of the morning.

A very interesting discussion was then taken up on "Efficient Continuation Work." As this is the jubilee year of missionary work in the church a missionary campaign is being started all over the country. This campaign was started in Galion this morning and in the interest of it Dr. A. Snider, pastor of the Galion United Brethren church and a former pastor here, spoke of the great work expected in getting new members into the society.

"But the one thing on my heart is," said Dr. Snyder, "How shall we keep all we get. I hope every member will pray for an equipment and the endowment of power to keep all the new ones interested." Mrs. Shumaker, the conference organizer of missionary societies suggested that a similar campaign be started in Marion and that the missionary societies of other churches in the city be asked to join in the campaign among their own church members.

Mrs. Hageman Talks.

At the close of the discussion Mrs. Howard Hageman, of Delaware, who for the past fourteen years has been engaged in junior work, was to have spoken to the school children, but as it was against the rules of the schools to announce it in public schools it was not generally known and only a few responded. In the absence of the children Mrs. Hageman was asked to talk before the adults. She told several stories of child life in China and of how many of the Chinese girls who wish to enter the missionary schools have to be refused admittance because of lack of room and funds. She spoke of the middle and lower classes and did not touch the higher Chinese life. In telling the stories she illustrated many points by showing articles brought from that Oriental country. Among the collection were Chinese dolls, testament printed in Chinese characters, embroideried slippers worn by the children, some of the Chinese toys and a number of other things including several pictures taken in that country.

The meeting was brought to a close with prayer by Rev. J. W. Miles.

Another institute of the Sandusky branch will be held at Lima Friday.

BURGLARS MAKE HAUL AT THE STRELITZ STORE

Goods Valued at About $400 Are Secured.

THIEVES ARE TRAILED BY THE BLOODHOUNDS

Fellows Evidently Have a Rig Hitched at Lincoln Park—Trail Is Lost at a Campfire Along the Pennsylvania Tracks—Notes from the Police Court.

Burglars made a nice haul at the Strelitz clothing store on north Main street at an early hour Friday morning, securing about $400 worth of wearing apparel. Entrance to the store was gained by breaking a window on the north side of the room and then forcing the shutters open by breaking the wooden shutter bar.

The burglary is supposed to have been committed about 1 o'clock Friday morning. At about that time Merchants' Officer Crabb went through the rear alley, but no person was seen in the vicinity and the rear of the place was locked. The burglary was discovered when the proprietors opened the store Saturday and a hasty invoice disclosed that one heavy overcoat, four suits of clothes, four cravenette coats, between twenty and thirty sweaters, several shirts, several pairs of auto gloves, some socks and other merchandise were missing.

The robbery was immediately reported to the police and the bloodhounds were put on the trail. After being given a scent in the store the dogs followed the trail through the alley to Prospect street and then north to Lincoln park. The dogs led up to where a buggy had been hitched in the park and then went north to a small street, making several stops and going through yards. The dogs then followed a trail to the Pennsylvania tracks and south on the tracks to a campfire, where the trail was lost.

The local police have a clue as to the identity of the thieves and it is probable that some arrests may follow. The officers at some of the surrounding places have been notified to be on the lookout for the stolen property.

The mayor's collections in fines and licenses during the month of October amounted to $326.35. Of this amount $269.35 went to the city, $52 to the state and five dollars to the humane society.

MONEY PAID INTO THE COUNTY TREASURY

An Opinion Given by State Examiner Sage Here.

Probate Judge W. S. Spencer paid into the county treasury Saturday the sum of $919.65, most of which had been deposited with him by guardians and administrators to be paid to the heirs entitled thereto under the law.

It is the opinion of State Examiner H. B. Sage, who has been examining the various county offices here, that such moneys in the hands of the court, should be paid into the county treasury in January of each year the same as unpaid witness and other fees. Then a certificate should be issued by the court upon the county treasury in payment of same when called for.

Judge Spencer says that such deposits of money are frequently made with the court by guardians and administrators in order to close up the estate and save further costs, and sometimes amount to thousands of dollars.

MRS. RILEY MARTIN APPEALS TO THE POLICE

Wants Help in Securing Return of Her Son.

RUMOR OF MARRIAGE IS NOT GIVEN CREDIT

Youth Leaves Marion with Miss Sadie Evalyn Long and It Is Said the Young People Are Walking from Place to Place—Lad Has No Money When He Leaves the City.

Mrs. Riley Martin, of No. 2 Tully street, called on Chief Klinefelter during the early part of the week with a view to having the chief assist in locating and inducing her son to return home. According to the story told by Mrs. Martin, Earl Martin, her son, ran away with Sadie Evalyn Long, who was employed in this city as a domestic.

The couple left here last Sunday afternoon in company with Alfred Dean and a Miss Arnold, taking an interurban car to Newman's. From there the quartet walked to Centerville, the home of Miss Long's parents. Sunday evening, Miss Arnold and Mr. Dean returned to Marion, but Miss Long and the Martin boy failed to return. The boy's mother states that he is but seventeen years of age. The mother of the boy communicated with the girl's mother and was informed that the girl was but eighteen years of age.

It was learned that the couple left Centerville and walked to Richwood, Wednesday, spending some time at that place and going from there to Peoria, Friday. Mrs. Martin located her son at Pooria, Friday evening, and left Friday night for that place with a view to having him return.

Rumor reaching the mother of the boy is to the effect that he is married to the Long girl, but this is not believed by his mother and other members of the family. The boy, who is large and appears much older than seventeen, was formerly employed at the Busy Bee dining-hall and at the Union Depot hotel, and is well known in the city.

The couple is journeying from one place to another afoot. The boy's sister stated Saturday that he had no money when he left home last Sunday.

GOOD THOUGHTS.

What we think that we are. That art of philosophy was long ago uttered and it finds frequent expression and illustration. If one thinks good thoughts, one will be good; if one thinks evil thoughts, one will be evil. "Vice," said a keen observer, "is a habit of thought." "Happiness," said a recent lecturer, "is the result of storing the mind with pleasant thoughts." The psychological side of disease is now generally recognized, and the successful physician studies every case from that side as well as from the purely physical. "Ideals," we are told, "are essential to success," and we believe that it is possible for almost every well equipped youth to become what he really wishes to be.

Some of these things we have got to believe. Good thoughts, right thoughts, true thoughts have an influence for good. They drive out the thoughts of evil and make happiness where the evil thoughts make wretchedness. Perhaps there is a suggestion here for our reformers. Fill the world with good thoughts and bottle up the makers of evil thoughts. Make it so that the individual, struggling to rise out of the mire, can not fail to absorb the good whether or not he goes out to get it. As for the individual, it should be his constant aim to think the good. The act that is good will then follow. —Columbus Dispatch.

Mr and Mrs. Harry Biddle of north Prospect street, are the parents of a son born Saturday.

MISS ETHEL MAY HOY IS AWARDED DAMAGES

Gets a Verdict for $1,000 on a Claim for $1,990.

THE JURY REPORTS THURSDAY EVENING

Plaintiff Is Injured on the Tracks of the C., C., C. & St. L. Railway Company—Official Abstract of Wet or Dry Election Is Filed—Petitions-in-Error in the Court.

In the damage proceeding of Ethel May Hoy, by her next best friend, Frank Hoy, against the C., C., C. & St. L. Railway company, the jury awarded the plaintiff $1,000 on a claim of $1,990. The jury reported at 9 o'clock Thursday evening, after deliberating a couple of hours.

The plaintiff sued to recover damages for injuries received on the tracks of the company in an accident November 24, 1909, at a point just outside the corporation limits on the extension of west Center street.

Eymon & Thompson represented the plaintiff and Quigley & Carhart the defendant company.

The official abstract of the wet-or-dry election in Marion county has been filed by the board of elections with the clerk of courts and the county commissioners, as required by law.

Petitions-in-error were filed by John Abel and Lewis Tron in the court of common pleas Friday. The cases are carried up from the mayor's court, where the plaintiffs-in-error were fined $150 and the costs for alleged violations of the local-option laws.

The appeal suit of the White Sewing Machine company against William Chevalier and others has been settled out of court at the costs of the plaintiff company.

The trial of the suit of Joseph Yearsley and others against Samuel Barger was concluded in the court of common pleas, Friday evening, the jury deliberating but a few minutes after the argument of counsel was finished. Yearsley and others sold Barger a horse valued at $175 and received a check in that sum in payment. The horse died of pneumonia two days later and the purchaser stopped payment on the check claiming that the horse was sick when he purchased it. The jury gave the plaintiffs a verdict for the full amount of the check with interest. An amusing incident in connection with the argument of the case was developed when Attorney William P. Moloney made reference to the fact that animal in question was a green colt and had been driven by Barger a distance of five miles March 17. Attorney John McNally was in the court-room and succeded in raising a laugh when he inquired sotto voice as to what kind of a colt a man would be expected to drive on the 17th of March.

Mouser & Moloney represented the plaintiffs in the proceeding and Quigley & Johnson the defendant. A motion for a new trial has been filed in the case.

In the damage proceeding of Ethel May Hoy by her next friend, Frank Hoy, against the C. C. C. & St. L. Railway company a motion for a new trial has been filed by the attorneys for the railroad company. The plaintiff was given a verdict for $1,000 on a claim for damages amounting to $1,990.

Miles Anderson has applied for an injunction in the court of common pleas restraining County Treasurer Robert S. Dombaugh from collecting Aiken tax in the sum of $784.90 assessed against him. His bond has been fixed at $1,000.

The suit of the Marion Steam Shovel company against the Marion Shovel & Dredge company in which the plaintiff sought to restrain the defendant company from using the name under which it was operating has been dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff company.

John Delbert DeTurk, indicted by the last grand jury on two counts as the result of the burning of a dwelling house several months ago, appeared before Judge W. D. Scofield Saturday and gave a new bond in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance to answer to the charges.

In the receivership matter of Charles Rieger against the Marion Foundry & Machine company, Receiver M. H. Kirchner has filed his final report and has been discharged from further responsibility.

In the case of the State of Ohio on complaint of Norma Pfeiffer against Perry Dennis the court has fixed the bond of the defendant at $400. Dennis is now trying to secure the bond.

A demurrer has been filed in the suit of Cecil Hayner against the Marion Steam Shovel company. The defendant denies all of the material allegations contained in the petition.

DR. W. A. FERGUSON GIVES FIRST SERMON

Begins His Duties at Lee Street Presbyterian Church.

MINISTER IS HEARD WITH MUCH INTEREST

Rev. W. A. King Delivers an Able Discourse at the Trinity Baptist Church—A Large Audience Hears Able Address—Services of Sunday in City.

"Our Shadows" was the text of an excellent sermon by Dr. W. A Ferguson, the new pastor of the Lee Street Presbyterian church at the morning service Sunday. Dr. Ferguson came here last week from La Rue to take up his new work as pastor of the Lee Street church and his discourse Sunday morning was his first as pastor here.

Rev. Mr. Ferguson selected his text from Acts 5:15, "That at least the shadow of Peter, passing by, might overshadow some of them." He was heard with interest by a good-sized congregation. He spoke in part as follows:

"The people, with great confidence in the miraculous power of Peter, brought their sick to him for healing. Even his shadow was enough. Philosophically, a shadow is that which represents the form of an object which intercepts the rays of light Morally, shadow is a type of influence. Such was Peter's shadow. The text shows us first the spiritual riches which a Christian may possess. Every Christian has a shadow and that influence is in proportion to his spiritual strength. Many Christians think that they could be useful had her different surroundings—greater ability, larger means, or more learning. But here was an unlearned fisherman who was the world's marvel.

What is the secret? Christ was in Peter, hence his enriching shadow. A shadow is made only by light and you cannot make a shadow for real good without Jesus, the light of the world. You remember the gift Peter made the cripple at the beautiful gate Not gold or silver, but see the helpless man now walking and leaping and praising God. Take courage, child of God, and learn the power of your enriching Savior. You have riches to bestow greater than money.

"Not position but Christian character determines the question of power over man Epictetus was a crippled slave, yet so noble was his soul that he had an emperor for his disciple. Diogenes, when captured by pirates was about to be sold as a slave into Crete Pointing to a carefully dressed Corinthian, he said, Sell me to that man, he wants a master.' The buyer became the slave and the slave became the master. Character overcame position. Poor men rich in Christ became the masters of the world.

"Secondly, the power of unconscious influence an influence exerted with direct intention is felt Peter was giving out influence without being aware of it. We are emitting influence without specific effort or purpose and producing results as from the force of unconscious habit. Hence his admonition to watchfulness as to what we are and where we are and what we do. What we say and what we think. Our thoughts weave the fabric of our character. We are what our hearts are 'If I fall,' said the Christian standard-bearer, 'tell my dear wife, I die with a good hope in Christ.' 'He fell,' said a lieutenant-colonel who heard the declaration, 'I cannot forget those words and I want to become a Christian.' The soldier had left his shadow on that field of carnage and knew it not. Is the production of results both good and bad the silent influences are almost omnipotent in the family, in the church, in the public social life

When little children nestle in the shadows of parents, it seems uplifting and beautiful. What sad sights too, beyond portrayal, where parents and children go down together just as little ones cling to father and mother in the sinking ship. By the shadows we cast, souls are healed or killed The distinguished Richard Cecil was won to Christianity by the quiet example of his godly mother. She passed from earth without knowing it The distinguished John Newton, on the other hand, before his conversion corrupted a young man into infidelity. He tried to remedy the evil at the young man's deathbed, but he turned his face to the wall and died John Newton's first shadow had done the work of destruction.

Thirdly, how universal is human influence and how lasting. The world is just an unbroken series of actions and reactions and the shadows of mortals are telling everywhere upon each other A jeer, a laugh, may send a soul to perdition. Chemists tell us that one grain of musk will impart its color to several thousand times its weight in water One evil companion may ruin scores, hundreds, thousands, the influence being caught up and lived over as the generations pass. You cannot find an end of human influence One pound of gold can be drawn into a wire that will belt the globe, and the shadow of one good or bad act will run through time and never its unbroken flight onward through eternity.

"Influence emanates from us to heal or kill. No man liveth to himself. What a large possession has a Christian. What abundant opportunity for using it. Your influence is as wide because Christ is earth-wide. All heathendom feels your shadow for good or evil. Shadows lengthen too, with the advancing evening. Is our influence growing as the years go forward? The Arabs have a greeting 'May you live a thousand years and may your shadow never grow less.' We live in influence through the eternal years. The dead have potent lives still upon the earth. The voiceless tombs of the good are perpetual sermons. 'They are dead,' says a poet, 'but sceptered monarchs who still rule our spirits from their urns'"

Rev. Walter A. King.

Rev. Walter A. King, of New London, who was recently chosen pastor of the Trinity Baptist church in this city, began his pastorate here Sunday, preaching two fine sermons He was heard by large audiences both morning and evening.

Previous to the sermon, Sunday morning, Rev. Mr. King spoke as follows: "I want to forget as much as possible the fact that two churches have united to form this congregation. You are members of Trinity Baptist church. History has been written. The future lies in our keeping. While reminders from time to time may come that two congregations have united here and there may be different ideas, let us realize that we are now in the Lord's work. We are now to accomplish what the Lord had in mind when he drew us together. I am here as your servant. I welcome some of your tasks and burdens and some of your sorrows. Some of them I don't want to know anything about. I will be happy to enjoy some of your pleasures. Some of them also I do not want to know anything about. I want to exalt the standard of the cross and our aim must be the glorification of His name."

The minister selected his text for the morning from Luke 10:20, Notwithstanding, in this rejoice not that the spirits are subject to you, but rather rejoice because your names are written in heaven."

In his opening remarks, Rev. Mr. King spoke of character as emphasized in the admonition of the Master to the seventy he was sending out to preach the gospel in the text.

"A man is known by his character to God and by his reputation among men. A man's character is not always known by the business he is engaged in. A mail carrier is not known by the houses he visits while distributing mail, but his character is known by the houses he visits while he is off duty. A street car conductor is not known by the people he associates with while collecting fare, but hen he is not collecting fares he is known by the people with whom he associates. The same is true of the church people."

Rev. King stated that the first quality which is recommended to those who are to represent the Master is humility. He showed that the commanding soul is the humble soul. Pride goeth before the fall. Jesus said rejoice not that the spirits are subject unto you, which was sufficient to make a man proud, but rejoice that your names are written in heaven. The minister explained that Washington was humble as was shown when he was found kneeling in the snow Admiral Togo, the great Japanese admiral, was humble enough to bow at the tomb of Washington when he was here. Stonewall Jackson, one of the greatest generals of the Confederacy, was humble before his God. Martin Luther was another example though he dared to defy the pope of Rome.

Another fact brought out in the text is that these men were registered and were of certain quality. This fact should be one over which they should rejoice. Then too they had the purpose of power.

"The purpose of power is not always destructive" the speaker said "Some people think that when they get a hammer and start in destroying things they are accomplishing that for which they were given power The purpose of power is to create and not to destroy I am interested in the campaign now going over the state of Ohio as any man in it but it is my conviction that if the dry forces had spent as much time, money and energy in building up the church instead of destroying the saloon they would have accomplished just as much. The purpose of power is to create and not to destroy.

"The text shows these men had the mediator of power who is Jesus Christ. It is impossible for a man to accomplish much with God. There is a kind of theology that you can allow your boys to just grow up as clean and good men without God in their lives, but you cannot do it.

"We should rejoice if we have this relationship with God, and strive for the characteristics of a true child of God."

Communion services were held following the preaching services.

WEIGHED AND WANTING.

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for November 12 Is "Belshazzar's Feast and Fate." Daniel 5.

This is one of the oldest and most frequently quoted stories in literature. Painters and poets and novelists and descriptive writers have all done their utmost to reproduce the dramatic scene in the ancient court of Babylon, when a mystic hand upon the wall wrote the doom of a king and a kingdom. And yet the last word has not been said. So true to life in all its larger meanings is this graphic episode that "weighed in the balance and found wanting" is one of the commonest allusions of cultivated speech.

No artistic reproduction of the scene has ever made the facts so real to me as my own recent visit to Babylon. "Sic transit gloria mundi"—"So passes the glory of the world"—my mind kept repeating, as I stood on the very spot in the palace of Nebuchadnezzar where rested the throne of Belshazzar, son of Nabonidus, the usurper to the throne. The German archaeologists at Babylon have excavated the palace and the throne room. Pointing me to an alcove or recess at one side of the great room, my German friend said, "There is where stood the throne of Belshazzar, and opposite that he saw the handwriting on the wall." Now all in ruin. Even the name of Belshazzar does not remain upon any of the bricks, although there are thousands inscribed with the stamp of Nebuchadnezzar. It is a wonderful spot in which to muse upon the transitoriness of earthly glory. Yonder by the temple of Marduk stood the Tower of Babel, man's vain effort to outwit God. Along the sacred way leading past the temple of Ishtar, great triumphal processions passed. Now the archaeologists have to conjecture who was who among gods and kings on this highway of earthly glory.

A Drama Well Staged.

The episode of the handwriting on the wall came amid psychological surroundings and at the psychological moment. It was the climax of the kingdom of Babylon. Persia was at the city's gate. Defiant King Belshazzar held a great carnival of opulence and luxury to which he invited his generals and leading men. All that the extravagance and florid taste of the East could devise to please the senses was there in abundance. It was pleasure to the point of satiety.

To stimulate the jadedness of the over-indulged appetites of the drunken revellers, the king had brought into the banqueting room the vessels from the temple of the God of the Jews at Jerusalem. There, they praised the multitudinous gods of Babylonia in contrast with the one God called Jehovah. It was as if the mad carousers would defy this unkown God. He accepted the challenge.

Romance Under Ground.

There are aspects of the story that are difficult for the scholar. Some day we may dig up a further chapter upon it. All over Babylonia the Arabs are finding cuneiform tablets reciting history, and the seals which all men were obliged to carry as a signature. Assyriologists are able to read these. Who knows but that we may one day find the seal of Daniel? Perhaps it is one of those which I have in my possession at the moment! This is the alluring possibility about the romantic discoveries that are being made in Babylonia.

God has stored away in the safe deposit vault of mother earth, beneath a perfectly dry climate, these records which should lie idle for thousands of years until, in a fullness of time which seems now to be coming, they should be brought to the light to attest the truth of the sacred scriptures. Wise men have learned not to be positive in saying that anything is untrue in scripture, when there is a possibility of corroboration from these vaults of history so long and wonderfully sealed.

Shocking the Superstitious.

A superstitious people were these Babylonians. They were peculiarly susceptible to omens and portents. So when into the midst of the grandeur of the great feast was projected a spectral hand, writing unknown characters upon the wall, there was a consternation which sobered the drunken and the abandoned. Out of nowhere it had come. Before their dazed eyes it traced upon the wall its message.

If Jehovah wished to write a warning upon the hearts of men He could not do it better than here. Babylon, be it remembered, was the capital of the known world. The throne room, the center of the palace which was the center of the capital, was more nearly the hub of the universe than any spot we can point to at the present day. Whatever happened here would be reported to the uttermost confines of the existing civilization. The warning of the banqueting hall would be in the possession of all Babylon within a few hours. It was a timely and appropriate place for the admonition of an outraged Jehovah.

The king was panic stricken. Like a modern European monarch who fled from his capital at the first outbreak of revolution, Belshazzar did not show himself the self-possessed heir of royal character. He was overwhelmed by the handwriting upon the wall. The poet Heine has depicted the scene amid which Belshazzar found himself:

"The yelling laughter was hushed, and all
Was still as death in the royal hall.
And see! And see! on the white wall high
The form of a hand went slowly by,
And wrote, and wrote, on the broad wall white.
Letters of fire, and vanished in night."

A Woman to the Rescue.

Like the self-respecting Queen Vashti, in the story of Esther, the real queen mother of Babylon was absent from these carousals. It lay beneath her queenly dignity to countenance such dissipation by her presence. Womanlike, when trouble befell, her first thought was to help. The news of the strange horror that had come to the banqueting hall ran like wild-fire through the palace. At once it was the queen who showed the needed presence of mind. Her superiority to that of the drunken Belshazzar is apparent. It is the sober person who has wits for an emergency.

There was another person beside the queen mother not present at the feast. This was the aged Daniel. The rich and the mighty may seem to be gathered in a great carnival of pleasure at some Newport orgy, but it is to be remembered that there is a far greater circle of true "good society" that is not enrolled "among those present." Daniel was not at this feast. He and the young king had little in common—so little, indeed, that Belshazzar seems to have forgotten him already; but when needed, he proved to be the man for the hour.

The Dignity of Daniel.

Summoned, the Hebrew sage was implored to read the "Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharsin," which had come in ghostly letters upon the palace wall He was promised royal gifts but, with the splendid dignity of a wise man and a patriot, he spurned the gifts, while offering his best service to his liege lord

Then, in kingly, prophetic words he spoke forth the truth for the time, fearing naught, and striving not to please with soft words. He recalled the greatness of Nebuchadnezzar, and how God had lifted him up; but when Nebuchadnezzar's heart had become hardened God, who sits above all thrones, had humbled him. Belshazzar had looked in vain upon the example of Nebuchadnezzar. With far less reason, he had given his heart to haughtiness. Now it was his turn to be admonished by Jehovah. Then came the message "Thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting."

A Mystic Message.

Incredibly patient is the Lord of Hosts, yet He must be God. What He permits and endures on the part of mortals almost passes belief. Nevertheless, He sits on His throne, judging nations and individuals. There is no greater truth within the compass of man's mind than the sense of ultimate responsibility to the King of kings. History is read blindly unless the reader understands that behind all providences and all seeming accidents lie the purposes of the Most High. History is "His story.".

"If, drunk with sight of power, we loose
Wild tongues that have not Thee in awe,
Such boasting as the Gentiles use;
Or lesser breeds without the law—
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget!"

The echoes of the feasting in Belshazzar's palace had scarcely ceased before the city fell. The hand that wrote was the hand that smote. Men may not with impunity defy the God of heaven. He still holds in His hands the balances that weigh the souls of men and of nations. The heart-searching message of this lesson is that of accountability to the Lord Most High.

JUDGE CALEB NORRIS IS BOOMED FOR PLACE

Friends Pick Him To Preside Over Great Convention.

HIS JUDICIAL MIND AND EXPERIENCE NEEDED

The Judge Is Selected by Those Who Know Him Best as a Leader in the Constitutional Convention and Fitted in Every Way To Serve as Its President.

The friends of Judge Caleb H Norris in Marion and throughout the state have started a boom for him as a candidate for president of the constitutional convention, a position for which all agree he is eminently qualified

The judge did not campaign in the old accepted term of campaigning for a seat in the convention, but he was Marion county's choice as a delegate, and his selection was most emphatic. Now that he has been named to shoulder the many responsibilities attached to a part in revising the old or preparing a new constitution for Ohio his friends are not resting content, but insist that one of his judicial mind and experience should preside over the convention which will be so potent for good or evil in molding that which must govern many future generations.

Judge Norris is a comparatively young man as yet, but he is old enough to be time-tried, and he carries with him the weight of twenty-five years of experience on the common pleas and circuit benches He has not pledged himself in any manner whatsoever to any position No statements from him were forthcoming before the election as to his position on the initiative or referendum or any other issues just now engaging the Ohio public, and he is still silent as to his views. His friends, however, have reason to hold confidence in his calmness on any issue that may come before the convention and know that he will not be subject to any minor whim or circumstance Wherever the stretch of his position is placed, it will be for the betterment of those whose confidence he holds is assured
